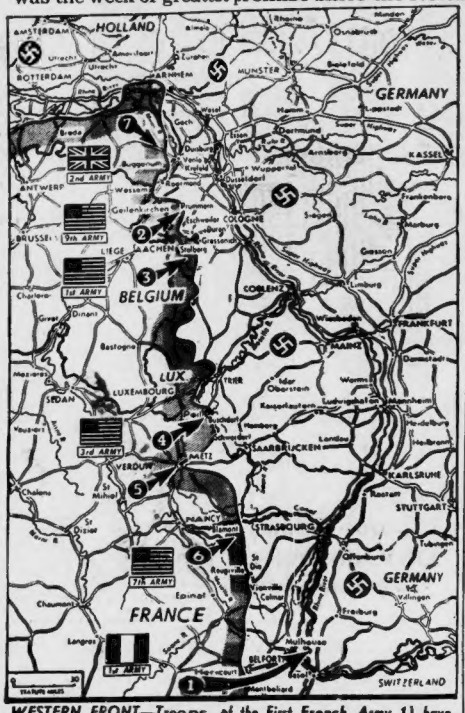
French Reach Rhine, Nazi Retreat Begins

By WILLIAM FRYE

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—French troops broke through the historic Burgundy gap at Belfort and reached the Rhine, it was announced today as five other Allied armies hit sagging German defenses along all the other historic routes of invasion into Germany. It was the week of greatest promise since the Normandy break-through.



WESTERN FRONT—Troops of the First French Army (1) have reached the Rhine near Mulhouse, driving through the Belfort Gap. Meanwhile the British Second Army (7) is pushing toward Venlo, and with troops of the Yank Ninth Army (2) is meeting stiff opposition northeast of Geilenkirchen. The American First Army (3) is on the outskirts of Eschweiler and units of the Third Army (4) are driving into Germany, while other troops mop up inside encircled Metz (5). The Seventh captured Blamont (6).

Frontline dispatches indicated a definite German retreat was on to the Rhine and the Saar, the boundaries of the Reich.

Three of the Allied armies—the U. S. 1st and 9th and the British 2d—aimed their blows at the great Rhineland industrial cities of Dusseldorf and Cologne.

The Scandinavian telegraph bureau, a Nazi-controlled agency, said 200,000 American soldiers supported by 1000 tanks have beaten half way through the Siegfried line east of Aachen and that the Germans are withdrawing out of northeastern France toward the Saar.

French troops and armor unhinged the entire German southern flank at the Swiss border and surged into the outskirts of the bypassed fortress city of Belfort in a break-through announced by Gen. de Tassigny of the 1st French Army. The Rhine below Mulhouse was reached by nightfall yesterday, he said.

The Paris radio said two French divisions entered Belfort this morning.

"The drive for Mulhouse continues," said the broadcast. "Tonight French guards will be mounted at the Rhine for the first time in this war."

American and French forces have seized the entrances to four of the six main passes through the Vosges to the Rhine. They are battling 37 miles from Strasbourg, 21 miles from Colmar and 10 miles from Mulhouse, all important cities on the French side of the Rhine.

Third Army forces, crushing Metz in a grip that seized a third of that blocked-off old Roman fortress city, drew up to the Saar border on a 10-mile front and punched out a five-mile square block of territory in Germany northwest of the Saar and east of the Luxembourg border.

This thrust, along the western fringe of the Saar valley and just east of the Moselle, assumed the proportions of a drive up the famous Moselle gate toward Trier and Coblenz on the Rhine, 80 miles to the northeast.

On the Cologne plain three Allied armies fighting on Gen. Eisenhower's most concentrated front had bulged approximately five miles northeast of Aachen since the start of their offensive through the Germans' most formidable and determined defense.

Losing village after village, the German stand at last was showing signs of a crackup in spots as the British 2nd and U. S. 9th and 1st Armies threw the armored, artillery, infantry and aerial punches which might break through to Cologne on the Rhine, 26 miles away, Dusseldorf and the Ruhr valley to the northeast.

In Holland the British stabbing to the Maas at Kessel, six and a half miles below Venlo, were feeling out Nazi defenses two and a half miles from the German border and 29 miles from Dusseldorf.

China's New Deal?

By The Associated Press

A Chinese cabinet shakeup today involved removal of Gen. He Ying-Chin as minister of war and chief of staff and H. H. Kung as minister of finance. Indications are that Generalissimo Chiang Kai-shek finally has yielded to Allied pressure for a housecleaning aimed at retrieving the tottering military and financial fortunes of free China.

In naming Gen. Chen Cheng to succeed Ho, the generalissimo has placed the reorganization of China's military forces in the hands of an able, forceful commander eager to adopt modern methods and willing to work closely with Americans assigned to train and equip an effective fighting army.

Retirement of Gen. Ho conceivably may remove one of the chief stumbling blocks to a political settlement between the central government and the Chinese Communists.

Gen. Ho had maintained a military blockade against Communist armies in the north is known as an implacable foe of the Communists.

Ho also has been accused of delaying tactics in accepting and employing American strategy, training methods and equipment.

The Chungking shakeup follows recall of Gen. Stilwell as American commander in China-Burma-India, which brought to light abroad the fact that Washington had been insisting on a reorganization of the central government.

The new minister of war organized the Chinese expeditionary force, which trained in southwest China under American instructors and now is fighting across the Salween river to join up with Allied forces pushing across Burma to reopen the Burma road.

O. K. Yui, former mayor of Shanghai, takes over China's runaway inflationary problems from H. H. Kung, now in this country.

The new finance minister inherits a fullblown economic and financial crisis with an attendant train of vicious speculation, blackmarketing and graft.

With Kung out of the cabinet the influence of the Soong family may be waning in Chungking. Kung, descendant of Confucius, is a brother-in-law of Mrs. Chiang Kai-shek, now in the United States. Madam Sun Yat-Sen (Soong Ching-Ling), widow of the founder of the Chinese republic and also a sister of Madam Chiang, remains in the Chinese capital where her good offices might help in obtaining an arrangement with the Communists.

T. V. Soong, who carries the title of foreign minister and regarded by many as the outstanding financial genius of China, is reported out of favor in Chungking, but Kung's retirement might mean a rise in Soong's fortunes.

It has been said often that "China isn't big enough for both T. V. and H. H."

U. S. Tanks Aid Big Red Drive

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Russian and American-made tanks, deepening the Soviet sweep around besieged Budapest along invasion routes into Austria and Czechoslovakia, were reported advancing today toward Lucenec, key Nazi communications hub on the Slovak-Hungarian frontier.

BULLETIN

LONDON, Nov. 20 (INS) DNB reported today the Russians had launched a drive against the southern flank of the front in Latvia.

The tanks sprang forward along a modern, hard-surfaced highway from captured Gyongyos, a seven-way junction 23 miles from the border and 40 miles northeast of Budapest.

Other Soviet tank and artillery forces brought the 25-mile sector of the trunk line between Budapest and Hatvan under heavy fire after capturing the village of Galgaheviz, 19 miles northeast of Budapest, a midnight Moscow bulletin announced.

Two 300-Plane Raids on Manila

By Associated Press

American assault forces invaded a new island group off the New Guinea coast, recaptured one of the Palau islands and counted more than 53,000 Japanese casualties in the Philippines campaign.

Chinese nearly matched these gains by capturing Mangshih and penetrating Bhamo at enther end of their narrowing Burma road campaign.

Japanese-controlled radios reported 300 American carrier planes twice raided Manila Sunday (Philippine time.) One report said big land-based Liberators joined in the attack on the area for the first time.

Allied communiques reported a Japanese battleship and cruiser were left exploding and in flames by bomb hits at Brunei, North Borneo, 13 small Japanese craft were sunk trying to run reinforcements and supplies into Leyte island in the Philippines, and U. S. warships again shelled Iwo island, 750 miles south of Tokyo.

Small invasion forces hit the Asia Islands, 180 miles west of the Mapia group where troops who landed last week completed mopping-up operations. Both island groups, less than 150 miles from New Guinea, were taken from the Japanese to eliminate air raid warning stations.

Infantrymen of the 81st Division recaptured Ngeregong island in the Palau group without opposition. The Japanese had previously retaken the island Nov. 7.

Marines walking almost shoulder to shoulder, and led by 900 dogs, hunted the length of Saipan island in the Marianas, killing 248 well-fed Japanese and capturing 47. Total Japanese military losses on Saipan are 25,392 killed and 1062 captured.

Americans have suffered 5691 casualties, including 1133 killed, 4432 wounded and 126 missing in the Leyte campaign.

The greatest encirclement of the rain-swept Leyte campaign led to bitter fighting around Limon at the northern end of the Ormoc Corridor as Japanese hammered at a 24th Infantry road block with tanks and artillery.

Nazis Win Back Mount Fortino

ROME, Nov. 20 (INS)—Nazi forces, hitting back hard in a desperate effort to postpone Allied capture of the cities of Ravenna and Bologna in northern Italy, recaptured Monte Fortino, four miles southeast of Faenza, headquarters of Gen. Sir Henry Maitland Wilson announced today.

850 U. S. Heavies Strafe Ruhr Area

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Upward of 850 American planes today bombed and strafed the Ruhr valley, imminently threatened by four advancing Allied armies. Berlin said other American planes were striking southern Germany for the third day.

An odd combination of 160 heavy bombers and more than 700 Mustang and Thunderbolt fighters and fighter bombers worked over an oil plant at Gelsenkirchen and the sprawling railroad yards at Munster, both fairly close to the eruption front.

Italy-based U. S. 15th Air Force raided southern Germany 600 strong Saturday and Sunday.

Seeks the Joys of Pipe Smoking

Girls Told How To Smoke Pipe

By ALICE BISSELL

Well ladies, now that some of you are really smoking pipes, here are a few tips from an expert on the art of behavior with the briar.

And it is an art, a privilege belonging to men, and not to be abused by women who can't find cigarettes and think this pipe business is a cute idea.

You're not supposed to suck at a pipe like your gat-toothed great grandmother did in the country, with a furor that would make a longshoreman faint.

Neither should you take up a pipe as a nervous habit the way you do cigarettes and puff away as you gossip with your chums in the crowded lunchrooms.

J. H. Williamson, who has spent a lifetime dealing in pipes at his Court st. shop, says his firm is selling six times the number of pipes to ladies that they did before the cigarette shortage.

"I wonder if women will learn to smoke them properly," he said.

"Today a clergyman, a lover of the art of pipe-smoking, bought one for his niece. A mother bought one for her daughter, and a boy selected one for his sweetheart.

"Foolish, fancy pipes are just a fad, but perhaps the small briar, for women, modeled exactly after a man's, is here to stay."

Williamson cautioned women not to try to become pipe-smokers overnight.

"They should acquire the habit gradually, enjoying a smoke only when they sincerely want it. They should mellow the pipe slowly, and learn the joys of finding a blend of tobacco that just suits their taste.

"Remember that the perfect picture of joy and ease old-time smokers have is the result of years of development. Learn the art from men, and smoke because you like it, not because you think it is glamorous.

"The men won't be annoyed as long as you don't abuse the pleasure by smoking at the wrong time and in the wrong places. Pipes were made to dream over."

Wilson Jurors See 'Death Bowl'

A heavy, old-fashioned sugar bowl was offered in evidence today as the possible death weapon at the Suffolk Superior Court trial of John L. "Limey" Wilson, 28, and Francis J. Murray, 29, charged with the torture slaying of Mrs. Catherine McGinley, 84, of Charlestown.

Patrolman William Gaskell of Station 15, the state's 10th witness, said he found the bowl on the floor of a bedroom closet. He said it was covered with blood, and he took it to the station for examination.

Under cross-examination, Gaskell said he used a handkerchief in lifting the two-handled bowl. He said the present brown stains on it "might have been caused by blood."

Wilson appeared today with new blue trousers and a windbreaker instead of the sweater and dungarees he had worn since the trial opened Nov. 13.

U. S. Action Seen In Truckers' Strike

Threat of federal intervention hung over the Boston truck strike today as State labor officials and unl on officers besought drivers to return to their jobs and end the week-old wa lkout which has paralyzed transport of food and war materials.

Drivers, however, for the most part remained adamant in their refusal to start the trucks rolling again until officials of Local 25, International Brotherhood of Teamsters and Chauffeurs, granted them an election of officers and reinstated 14 suspended members.

State Labor Commr. James T. Moriarty, after a morning tour of the city, said a number of trucks were moving but the total was far below normal. Five hundred extra police and all cruising cars were on duty to provide escorts for trucks which were rolling.

Failure of officials and union heads to end the stalemate made government intervention imminent as Saul Wallen, regional WLB chairman, had announced last week he would give union officers until Monday to settle the intra-union difficulty before taking action.

His probable course would be to refer the case to the National WLB which in turn would ask aid of the President. Should the drivers fail to heed a presidential order to return to work, the Army would be ordered in to take over.

John M. Sullivan, union president, and other officials attended a conference at the A. Towle Co., one of the city's largest trucking concerns, and pleaded with drivers to move the huge quantity of materials for small war plants which has piled up at the truck company's terminal. None heeded his request, and the trucks remained idle.

Chain stores reported they were able to transfer small quantities of food to their hundreds of stores throughout Greater Boston but painted a gloomy picture of the Thanksgiving supply situation. They said smaller stores probably would be better off than their large markets but that there would be scarcities of many traditional holiday food items.

All was quiet at the South End municipal building headquarters of the drivers. Between 100 and 200 drivers gathered there, although no meeting was scheduled for today.

They appeared unconcerned at he announcement of employers that drivers who did not report for work today would be considered as having resigned.

This action by the employers placed an added responsibility on the officers of Local 25 of the Teamsters' Union, AFL, because under the closed shop agreement, the union must supply replacements for drivers who quit union jobs.

President John M. Sullivan of the local, and Patrick H. Jennings, its trustee, maintain there is no sanctioned strike under way, but only a wildcat walkout, and said they would do what they could to keep trucks running.

The union officers faced another action when Joseph Lee, former school committeemen, asserting he was acting as a disinterested observer, announced he would seek a court order charging them with conspiracy in restraint of trade, as a result of their refusal to grant an election. The Boston Terminal Market already has obtained a restraining order prohibiting the union officers and members from interfering with the movement of perishable foods.

Santa Brings Nubbins Gifts From All Parts of Country

By JOHN ALEXANDER

CHEYENNE, Wyo., Nov. 20 (INS)—Three-year-old Forest "Nubbins" Hoffman was resting today at his Cheyenne home, resting and getting to know each of the more than 300 presents he received from all over the nation at his special Christmas celebration yesterday.

FOREST HOFFMAN

Because doctors have said that Nubbins, suffering from an incurable bladder ailment, cannot live until Christmas really comes, the day was moved up a month so the boy could actually know the meaning of the day.

The first thing that met the child's eyes when he was awakened by his mother was the blue spruce Christmas tree covered with lights and decorations. Piled high around the tree were presents from almost every state and from as far away as Mexico City and Montreal.

Santa Claus stood beside the little lavender crib, his arms loaded with toys.

"Hello, Santa," Nubbins said joyfully, but Santa only swallowed. Then a little black cocker spaniel sauntered over to the crib and broke the tension. Nubbins immediately named him "Slip-immediately named him Slippers because of his four white feet.

C. E. Dilbeck, Cheyenne business man who played Santa, opened a box for Nubbins and handed him the bright colored clown that was enclosed, and then they started looking at the other presents.

There was a bright-red automobile that would go when you pushed the pedals; there was a huge kangaroo and many big woolly teddy bears.

There were books, toy airplanes, candies in bright boxes; there was everything to gladden the heart of a 3-year-old at Christmas.

Then Nubbins, carried by his mother, went to the window and waved at the reporters and photographers standing outside in the chill November wind through which a light snow was swirling.

After he had opened all the presents, Nubbins sat down with his famly to a turkey dinner, the gift of William M. Jeffers, president of the Union Pacific R. R., for whom his father works.

After dinner more than two bushels of letters and telegrams for Nubbins were sorted. There were letters from almost every state in the nation, and there was almost $200 to help make the Christmas a happy one for the little boy whose life slowly is ebbing away.

Then a very tired, but very happy little boy was placed in his lavender crib by his mother.

Holiday Supply Of Vegetables Seen Adequate

Whether the strike is immediately settled or not, there is no danger of Thanksgiving famine in Boston stores.

Not all of them are as well stocked as they should be with green vegetables such as spinach, cabbage, broccoli and the like, but all of them have adequate supplies of venerable Thanksgiving staples such as potatoes, onions, turnips, squash, pumpkin and carrots.

Turkeys are extremely short, but no scarcer than they were last year, and the market is well supplied with substitutes such as capons, fowl and roasting and frying chickens. This can't be blamed on the strike but on the demand for turkeys for the armed forces overseas. Ducks and geese are available but in extremely limited quantities.

Cranberries are scarce, but they have been ever since last August.

For vegetables to go with the poultry there is a choice of several such as onions, squash or turnips. The strike has cut into others such as cauliflower, green beans and green peas.

Sweet potatoes are hard to find and are higher in price but that is the usual seasonal increase a tthis time. Squash has also risen in price as it always does Thanksgiving and Christmas. Lettuce and ether salad ingredients are scarce but celery can be had.

Volunteers Start Work On 6th War Loan Drive

Patriotic war bond sellers and buyers today began their volunteer task throughout Boston and Massachusetts of raising $706,000,000 as the state's share in the nation's $14,000,000,000 Sixth War Loan drive.

State War Finance committee officials and state and city leaders emphasized that with victory in Europe not yet achieved, and a long and costly Pacific war in prospect, the need for bond buying is greater than ever.

The drive ends officially Dec. 16, but officials said all sales to individuals between Nov. 1 and Dec. 31 will count toward the state goal of $173,000,000 in individual purchases. The balance of the state quota, $533,000,000, is to be subscribed by corporations, organizations, institutions and other big buyers.

Downtown Boston streets were decorated with red and white banners. The Milk st. side of the Federal Building attracted attention with posters of Gens. Marshall, Eisenhower and MacArthur, and Adms. King, Nimitz and Halsey, and a panel announcing, "The Sixth War Loan Is On."

First of a series of bond rallys at war and business plants was scheduled today at the Murray Co., Damrell st., South Boston, with George Murphy, star of stage, screen and radio, appearing before the 800 workers.

Dressed in their work clothes, the entire personnel of the plant attended the rally and pledged their support of the drive. Murphy, here to aid the campaign, also scheduled appearances at the Simpson Yard of the Bethlehem Steel Co. today, and at the Atlantic and Fore River yards tomorrow.

Mayor Tobin, in endorsing the campaign, said the drive provides the people of Boston with another opportunity to back up the city's 90,000 men and women in the armed forces. F. W. Denio, state War Finance chairman, called on every citizen to carry his share of the war bond load.

"Success or failure will depend for the most part on individuals," he said. "Although our overall quota has been reduced from the Fifth War Loan, the quota for individual sales is approximately the same as in last summer's drive. The people of Massachusetts never have failed to respond, and they will not fail at this critical point in the war."

The Army, Navy, Coast Guard and Marines are co-operating in special events that will tour many communities in the state. "Anchors Aweigh of 1944," an all-service musical review with a cast of 75, begins its New England tour today at Newport, R. I.

School Report Charges Salary Inequalities, Demands Correction

Asserting that the system of salaries in Boston schools is full of inequities, another report by the Strayer School Survey today recommended that a basic wage policy be adopted to increase teacher competence and morale.

Pointing out that last year the School Committee's salary appropriations totaled $14,825,670, or 87 per cent of all budget appropriations, the report declared there are some 400 wage scales or schedules for school employes.

"For want of an established plan," it declared, "the school committee finds itself constantly maneuvered into the necessity of making new scales and adjusting old scales in response to special pleading of small groups of employes."

Establishment of a basic policy, it said, would result in two or three master schedules for teachers, with differentials for increased training and experience above the required minimum, and some 15 other schedules for employes outside the teaching classification.

The report declared teachers in elementary schools are paid lower salaries than those without additional training or experience who teach in intermediate or high schools.

It also asserts women teachers are paid less than men in similar jobs and that years of experience, rather than years of training, counted in getting a salary increase.

The report recommends equal pay for men and women in similar positions, a basic salary schedule with a top level of $4000 for teaching personnel, better classification of administrative and supervisory employes, and a differential to cover living cost changes.

The claim is made that financing of the city's schools is unsound, with nearly 90 cents of every dollar appropriated coming from property taxes, although current income rather than property now is the basic source of tax revenue.

It asserts that more support should be received from the Commonwealth, which now provides eight or nine per cent, rather than force the city to rely on shrinking property values for nine-tenths of the support of its schools.

Compared with the rest of the nation, the report says, Boston supports its schools with more than average generosity. Rising costs of living and a decline in the number of pupils have been responsible for an increase in per pupil expenditure from $115.33 in 1933 to $170.27 in 1943.

Prisoners Honor Chaplain Farrell

Rev. Ralph W. Farrell, for 16 years Catholic chaplain at Charlestown State Prison, today was presented with gifts from guards and inmates as he left to assume pastoral duties at St. Joseph's Church, Medway.

In an informal ceremony in the office of State Correction Comr. Arthur T. Lyman at the State House, Fr. Farrell received two checks, one from the prison officers and the other from the inmates among whom he labored so long.

Lyman presented the inmates' check and Richard J. Flanagan, prison transportation officer, acted for the officers. Attending the ceremonies were Warden J. W. Lanagan and Rabbi Benjamin L. Grossman and Rev. Howard Kellett, Jewish and Protestant prison chaplains, respectively.

Banquet Called Curley Opener

Although he made no direct reference to Boston's forthcoming mayoralty election, Rep. James M. Curley was generally considered to have launched his campaign for the office today after the rousing reception given him by 2000 friends and admirers at the Copley-Plaza Hotel.

The testimonial banquet, in observance of his 70th birthday, was attended by more than 1200 diners. An overflow crowd of 300 had to be turned away because there wasn't enough food, but these and several hundred others jammed into the banquet hall after the dinner to listen to the speeches.

Rep. John W. McCormack, House majority leader, hailed Curley as one whose "three terms as mayor have left their imprint everywhere one goes in Boston."

"He is just as visionary and progressive today as when he started his public career," McCormack said, adding that during their association in Congress "once I got his word, I knew his word was his bond.

"To Congressman Curley-Governor Curley-Mayor Curley."

He was halted by an ovation and the band started to play Curley's favorite song, "The Isle of Capri." Curley shook hands warmly with McCormack as he finished speaking, saying, "Good job."

Others who hailed Curley were Judges Daniel J. Gillen and Frank W. Tomasello and Reps. Philip J. Philbin and Thomas J. Lane.

They declared the city's recreation centers, parks, playgrounds and public buildings were the monuments of Curley's almost half-century in public life. They praised him as a man often misunderstood, but always a champion of the poor and the veteran.

Curley, after his introduction by ex-Police Commissioner Joseph F. Timilty, who acted as toastmaster, said "It may not be necessary for Curley to be in Washington but it may be necessary for him to be somewhere else."

This statement was cheered. At the end of his speech he aroused enthusiasm again when he said: "In the light of experience, history and the story of accomplishments there is only one course open.

"Curley's dreams and visions have seemed foolish to many until about three years after their accomplishments. I wonder if you can imagine any better auspices than the President of the United States, the Governor of the Commonwealth and the mayor of Boston all working for a common objective."

Prays for Wife He Strangled

WORCESTER, Nov. 20—Frederick R. DesRosiers, 31-year-old war worker, who walked into police headquarters yesterday and declared he had strangled his wife when she rebuffed his attempt to kiss her, revealed today he had followed the act by dropping to his knees and praying for the repose of her soul.

A large crowd, which packed the district court, turned away disappointedly when, after police brought him in for a murder arraignment, Judge Frank L. Riley continued the case until tomorrow.

DesRosiers, a small, slightly built man, expected to obtain counsel by that time, Deputy Chief William Finneran told the court.

The war worker, police said, told them calmly today that after strangling his wife, Helen, 28, with a lamp cord, in her bedroom, he had gone to the kitchen and written three letters.

Also, before giving himself up, he had heated a bottle of milk and given it to the youngest of his five children, Ronald, 18 months, who had been awakened in his crib by the struggle.

DesRosiers mailed the letters on his way to police headquarters. One was addressed to his mother, Mrs. Eugene DesRosiers of Minthorne st., this city.

She received it this morning.

The postman brought it as she was caring for the five DesRosiers children, the oldest only 8.

The sorrowing grandmother would not disclose its contents.

"There's no much I can do," she said. "Those of us left behind must suffer, no matter what happens to my son."

DesRosiers had addressed a second letter to his war plant boss and a third to his wife's mother, Mrs. Homer Dennis, also of this city. They would not comment on the contents.

With the letters written and the baby provided with his bottle of warm milk, DesRosiers went back to his bedroom, he told police, and knelt in prayer, beseeching repose for the soul of his wife and asking mercy for himself.

Then he changed from his working clothes, donned a shirt of the lumberjack variety, put on a fresh suit, tucked his topcoat under his arm, and walked to police headquarters a mile away.

Police found Mrs. DeRosiers' body on her bed, the lamp cord still around her neck but her hands folded over her breast.

Funreal services will be held Wednesday afternoon from a Main st. undertaker's parlor. She will be buried in Hope Cemetery.

As soon as DesRosiers' story was confirmed, he was charged with murder. Police said he told them his fury had been aroused by a suspicion his wife was "cheating" and because four days ago she threatened to take the children and leave him.

"I had built my life around my family," DesRosiers was quoted as saying.

At the time of the murder three daughters, Carol, 8; Joan, 6, and Judith, 4, were asleep in another bedroom, and a son, Gerald, 9, in a third.

DesRosiers, who according to Det. Lt. Maurice A. Kelliher signed a confession, was quoted as saying he went to work Saturday night at 7 o'clock as usual, but instead of remaining until 6 a. m. left the local war plant at 11 p. m.

He told police he went to a tavern at Southbridge and Hermon sts., expecting to find his wife with a man, but they were not there. DesRosiers was quoted as saying he then had three glasses of beer, after which he went home to find his wife in bed and the children all asleep.

"I tried to kiss her," he told police, "but she pushed me away. Then I struck her on the jaw, and grabbed her by the throat. In a little while her body went limp. I went to the kitchen and got an electric cord which I wrapped around her neck."

Parents in Plea To Missing Girls

The parents of two teen-age sisters who disappeared yesterday today spoke to them through this newspaper.

"Our only hope is that because you are together no dreadful harm can come to you. But please come home to your loving mother and father, whose care you need," was the appeal of Mr. and Mrs. Lewis Allen of Mercer st., South Boston.

Mary Allen Edna Allen

Edna, 14, a student at Patrick Gavin school, and Mary, 16, a student at South Boston High, never arrived at Phillips Congregational Church, Broadway, where they said they were going at 10 a. m. They had $1.50 between them.

Edna has red hair and brown eyes, is 5 feet 5 inches tall, and weighs 130 pounds. She wore a blue plaid overcoat.

Mary is a blue-eyed blonde, 5 feet 7 inches tall, and weighs 125 pounds. She wore a red dress with Chinese figures and a blue plaid coat.

All their classmates will be questioned in school today.

West Coast Jap Ban Favored by Legion

INDIANAPOLIS, Nov. 20 (AP) The American Legion national executive committee adopted a resolution urging congressional legislation to defer return of Japanese, foreign or American born, to West Coast areas until after the war.

The resolution also called for transfer of control over all Japanese in the United States from civilian authority to the Army.

Here Are Steps for Vet To Obtain Home Loan

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Machinery which will handle the entire transaction of applications filed by World War II veterans to borrow money to buy, build or repair a home under provisions of the GI Bill was thrown into high gear today to handle the rush of applicants taking advantage of the loan clause of Serviceman's Readjustment Act of 1944.

During the week-end hundreds of veterans, many with families, newlywed couples and prospective brides and bridegrooms visited many of the real estate offices in the Greater Boston area, making inquiries regarding property on the market.

However, a great percentage of the former GI Joes and Janes eligible to take advantage of this loan provision are still not fully acquainted with the procedure.

For that reason, and to help these veterans expedite the securing of their own homes, the Record-American publishes the step by step progress.

Three fundamental principles are involved to start off the transaction: The veteran should know all about the house he plans to buy, have his discharge papers in order, and bring these with him when he calls at any banking or loan institution, approved by the State Banking Commissioner, to negotiate the loan.

Vets have been advised to apply at their local banks. The Veterans Administration has no authority to make a loan. They only act as a guarantor up to 50 per cent of loan or $2000 maximum.

Most banks have application forms on hand—national, savings and co-operative banks, also credit and loan institutions. There the veterans will be asked to fill out three applications, simple in form. The applications are Home Loan Guaranty, Certification of Eligibility and Loan Guaranty Certificate.

Within an hour this whole job can be completed. Any lender has the right to refuse to make a loan, with or without stating a reason. The veteran must bear in mind, however, that a particular lender refusing to lend the money does not mean that another lender may not be willing to lend it.

With the application completed, then the government machinery comes into the picture.

The first step is for the bank to send an appraiser, approved by the Veterans' Administration, to make an appraisal of the property involved.

If it is to be a newly constructed home, plans, location of property and cost of construction will be scrutinized. For a home already constructed, such details as assessed valuation, location taxes, etc., will be studied.

The second step is to attach appraiser's report to the three other applications already completed by the prospective buyer and lender, which are then forwarded to the Boston office of the Veterans Administration in the Federal Building.

The finance office here, in conjunction with the adjudication division, checks the veteran's record to ascertain his eligibility.

Following the Veterans Bureau approval, the papers are then forwarded to the Regional Veterans Administration Office in New York city. This is the nearest office where a Loan Guaranty branch is located.

Here the procedure reaches its final stage, as far as Uncle Sam is concerned. The application is either approved or disapproved immediately and then returned to Boston. Borrower and lender are notified, and the deal, if approved, is consummated under terms agreed upon.

Under present conditions the lapsed time from filing of application to notification of loan approval should be about two weeks, but is expected to be reduced to one week in the near future.

Actors Stranded

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (INS)—Two dependents of Arthur Nelson, 56, were in the care of the ASPCA today while Nelson, under $1500 bail, awaited trial for the alleged theft of a traveling bag at Pennsylvania Station.

The dependents are a pair of boxing cats which Nelson exhibits at carnivals and fairs.

MARINE HELD IN SLAYING—Marine Cpl. Arthur D. Foster, wounded vet of the Bougainville campaign, comforts his crying wife, Lilybelle, after he had been charged with first-degree murder at Watertown, N. Y., in the stab-death of Robert Hodkinson. Hodkinson was slain in a restaurant after Mrs. Foster pointed him out as the man who had attacked her.

GETS 9 YEARS IN GIRL CASE

Pleading guilty to morals charges involving a small girl, Edward Cote, 42, of Regent st., Roxbury, was sentenced today to 9 to 12 years in State Prison by Judge Joseph L. Hurley in Suffolk Superior Court.

Attempted Attack on Girl, 9, Brings Arrest of Boy, 15

A 15-year-old Roxbury boy, former Shirley School inmate with a record of two previous sex offenses, was under arrest today, charged with an attempted criminal attack on a 9-year-old Arlington girl.

He was scheduled to appear later in the day at a juvenile session of East Cambridge district court.

Arlington police said the youth met the girl Nov. 10 while she was walking to school along the Concord turnpike near the Arlington-Belmont line. They said he asked her to help him search for some "money" he had lost, then lured her to a caddy house on links of the near-by Arlmont Country Club in Belmont.

The girl told police that she screamed and finally the youth ran in the direction of Belmont.

The boy was arrested at his home yesterday by Inspectors John Hourihan and Frederick Lucarelli of the Arlington force. They said they traced him after finding a woman of whom he had asked the direction to Boston.

$100,000 Fire In Roadhouse

DANVERS, Nov. 20—The Wagon Wheels roadhouse on Newburyport Turnpike, Danvers Highlands, one of the largest in New England, was destroyed by fire today under circumstances which promted Danvers authorities to begin an investigation.

It was believed the loss might reach $100,000.

Danvers and Peabody firemen found the 225-foot-long, one-story building ablaze from one end to the other when they responded to an alarm registered by a passerby.

The roadhouse, operated by New Moon, Inc., figured in the news last month when OPA announced it had suspended the corporation from serving rationed meats and fats from Oct. 27 to Dec. 29. OPA stated it had discovered the owners owed 122,000 red points to their suppliers.

Girl, Dad of 5 Held in Stickup

With the wife of her alleged accomplice watching from a spectator's seat, Mildred Rolfe, 23, of C st., South Boston, pleaded not guilty today in Hingham court to a charge of robbing an Abington man and Judge Daniel A. Shea ordered her held in $5000 for hearing Dec. 7.

Anthony Goelho, 39, of West Bridgewater, father of five children, pleaded not guilty to a similar charge and also was held in $5000 for hearing on the same date.

Both were arrested after Clarence Daniels, 40, of Abington, complained to police that they robbed him of $25 and ration books during an auto ride along a lonely road in that town when, he said, he volunteered to direct them to a place where they could buy gasoline.

Bullet Only Clue In Death Puzzle

SHIRLEY, Nov. 20—Baffled in their efforts to solve the shooting of 10-year-old Walter Crowe, killed by a shot fired at close range as he walked through the woods with his brothers, State Peace said today they hoped a bullet removed from the child's head might provide a clue.

Walter, son of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Crowe of Lawton rd., had gone into the woods near his home with his two brothers, Warren, 12, and John, 5. Warren said he and John were some distance away when they heard a shot and saw Walter fall.

FAMOUS "ENVOY" 100% VIRGIN WOOL BLANKETS

—imagine it! they're only 8.88

Why they're a VALUE:

MOTHPROOFED FOR FIVE YEARS—or for five cleanings, or washings. Specially treated with "Amuno" to protect them against damage by moths.

ANCHORED NAP—which enables you to lift the whole blanket by the nap alone (it won't pull out). This means, of course, that your blanket will wear longer.

EXTRA WARMTH — because they're made of virgin wool—closely woven with a thick, fluffy nap. This nap creates millions of tiny air cells that hold the body warmth.

EXTRA LONG — a full 84 inches to allow even six-footers ample tuck-in. And 72 inches wide.

RAYON SATIN BINDING—in matching colors.

Hitler Health Facts Told to Pope Pius

ROME, Nov. 20 (INS)—Pope Pius XII held a lengthy audience today with German Ambassador to the Vatican Weizsacker, who was said to have informed the Pontiff of latest developments inside Germany.

One topic of Weizsacker's report to the Pope, it was said, was the mysterious and widely discussed matter of Hitler's health.

Make It a Pipe

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—Smokers, already hard-pressed to find cigarettes, will have to forego the traditional holiday boxes of cigars this Christmas.

So says the Cigar Institute of America announcing it will undertake a colored-poster advertising campaign to acquaint smokers with the shortage since 91,000,000 cigars a month are going to the armed forces.

If you are one of the many veterans who are returning to civilian life, Richman Brothers would like to help you with your clothes problem.

We believe we have done an outstanding job of keeping quality up and prices down. Our suits are still all wool. The quality of our workmanship is as good as ever, and our selections are still large enough to give you a wide choice of style, color and pattern.

Best of all, our prices are still only $24.50 for our Standard Quality suits and overcoats; and $29.50 for our Super Quality Line.

We've already outfitted hundreds of returned service men, who were surprised and pleased with the fine quality and low prices of our clothes. We should like to have the privilege of serving you.

Martha's Little Lamb Like Poem, All Except School

AVON, Ct., Nov. 20 (AP)—Martha has a little lamb which isn't exactly like the one Mary had. It's true he follows her around most of the day, but he shuns school.

Pete, the pet of 10-year-old Martha Eddy, apparently isn't interested in getting an education. He prefers instead to wait at home for Martha and play when her school work is done and play when her coat made from Pete's fleece while he is growing more wool.

Pete, fleece as white as snow, is a familiar sight in Main st. and everywhere that Martha goes.

Raising lambs as pets is not new to the Eddy family. For years the Sheep reared near here and Martha's brother, Jimmy, now 18, at 1 raised a lamb on a milk bottle from the time of its birth.

Martha is a Girl Scout and in back of her mind, she said, is the idea of entering Pete in spring [illegible] Then Martha plans to have a fine

Marshal Brooke Due For Washington Post

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—The British press speculated today that Field Marshal Sir Alan Brooke, chief of the imperial general staff, would likely succeed the late Field Marshal Sir John Dill as British representative on the chief of staff committee in Washington.

Others mentioned for the post were Lt. Gen. Sir George Giffard, commander of the Eleventh Army Group in the Far East, and Lt. Gen. Sir Ronald Weeks, deputy chief of the British general staff.

Millions Switch To Mutton Suet Idea For Chest Colds

Quickly Relieves Children's Colds' Coughs, Loosens Phlegm

Many mothers all over America are switching to this idea of getting fast relief for these chest cold miseries. They are simply following Grandma. For years she counted on mutton suet to help carry her home medication to the pain-racking work on nerve ends in the skin. No wonder so many more now welcome Grandma's idea as improved by science—Penetro, with its multi-medicated formula in a base containing mutton suet—that acts both as counter-irritant and pain-reliever when you spread it on, and as a soothing aromatic when breathed in. And so today Penetro hurries along newer help in the old reliable way—help that eases painful misery, lessens coughing, loosens phlegm, soothes chest rawness—so that you can rest more comfortably and give nature a chance to restore vitality. That's why millions are switching to Penetro today—why druggists are recommending it. 25c, double supply 35c. For all your family's chest cold miseries, be sure you get white, easy-to-use Penetro.

'INVISIBLE' LIQUID
proves great success for
SKIN IRRITATIONS
Promptly relieves itching—aids healing

Here's a Doctor's formula—Zemo—a stainless liquid which appears invisible on skin—yet so highly medicated that first applications relieve itching, burning of Eczema, Psoriasis and similar skin and scalp irritations—due to external cause. Zemo also aids healing. Won't show on skin. Apply any time. In 3 different sizes. → ZEMO

Commonsense Says:
PAZO for Simple PILES
Relieves pain and soreness

For relief from the torture of simple Piles, PAZO ointment has been famous for more than thirty years. Here's why: First, PAZO ointment soothes inflamed areas, relieves pain and itching. Second, PAZO ointment lubricates hardened, dried parts—helps prevent cracking and soreness. Third, PAZO ointment tends to reduce swelling and check bleeding. Fourth, it's easy to use. PAZO ointment's perforated Pile Pipe makes application simple, thorough. Your doctor can tell you about PAZO ointment.

Downtown Paper Drive Stressed

Making a determined, final bid to increase the city's November salvage tonnage, drive officials today announced a special collection will be made Wednesday from downtown commercial establishments, banks, government and office buildings.

Salvage Director George G. Hyland announced that bad weather hampered last week's sidewalk collections in the 22 wards and was partly responsible for failure to exceed the October record paper collection.

In a special appeal to owners and operators of downtown business firms, Hyland pointed out that the need for waste paper is greater now than ever before because of increased military and essential civilian needs.

Police Hunt Hyde Park Hugger

Search for a hugger who has terrified Hyde Park residents by attacks on at least six women and girls in the last two weeks was intensified today, with extra police details assigned in the area.

Mrs. Josephine Shibley, 23, of Austin st., told police she was in Gordon ave. on the way to her nearby home when she was seized by a young man who made improper overtures. She said she broke away and ran and he disappeared in the opposite direction.

A similar experience was reported by Florence Anifrom, 14, of N. Main st., Sharon, who was visiting a sister in Frazier st.

Ten-year-old Jean Maguire of Reservation rd. was knocked down and her clothing torn when the hugger grabbed her near her home, she said.

In Sunnyside st., Pauline Hayes, 16, of Drury rd., was seized near the Channing School, she reported, but screamed and the hugger fled.

Rev. Dr. Peabody Rites at Groton

GROTON, Nov. 20—With many of Groton School's famed alumni attending, funeral services were scheduled this afternoon for Rev. Dr. Endicott Peabody, 88, the institution's world famous founder and headmaster.

Among graduates of the school who were taught by the distinguished clergyman and educator are President Roosevelt and his sons, the sons of President Calvin Coolidge, and the grandsons of J. P. Morgan and Theodore Roosevelt.

Dr. Peabody officiated at the wedding of President and Mrs. Roosevelt.

Solons Would Alter Little Steel Formula

WASHINGTON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Several Senators urged changing or dropping of the Little Steel wage formula today, following release of a special report to the White House on the advance in living costs.

The report, prepared by the President's special committee to investigate the wartime rise in the cost of living, concluded that for the bulk of wage earners the increase was 29 to 30 per cent over the level of Jan. 1, 1941.

That is the base date of the Little Steel formula which limits general wage increases to 15 per cent.

"I think this calls for a revision of the formula," said Sen. Pepper (D.) of Florida, who is pushing a resolution to declare wages of less than 65 cents an hour substandard.

Two other members of the labor subcommittee hearing testimony on Pepper's resolution said they thought a change in the formula was indicated.

"It looks as if the Little Steel formula is on its way out if the report is accepted," said Sen Aiken (D.) of Vermont. "I never did think the formula was very fair. It took no account of depreciation in quality of such items as shoes and clothing, which meant higher living costs even though the prices were unchanged."

Sen. Tunnel (D.) of Delaware said that while it is true that a business can't pay more than its profits, it is equally true that an individual can't work for less than his necessities.

Heydrich's Successor Himmler No. 2 Man

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Indications filtered out of Germany today that Heinrich Himmler is so busy taking Hitler's place he has found t necessary to bring up a new No. 2 Nazi.

He is Dr. Ernest Kaltenbrunner, who succeeded "Hangman" Reinhard Heydrich as chief of the super-Gestapo. For the first time, according to a generally reliable source here, Kaltenbrunner has just been accorded a selected battalion of super-Gestapo bodyguards—an honor previously enjoyed only by Hitler and Himmler.

Belgium Uprising Worries Allies

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Allied officials view the Belgian crisis today with some alarm [illegible] could get out of hand and result in an uprising by members of the resistance against the Pierlot government, these officials said it might spread to other liberated countries which also are going through critical periods.

Reports from Brussels said many resistance members were hiding their arms, just as they did when the Germans came in.

Veterans' Friend

By JAMES F. McENANEY

Q—Could you please tell me how long more it will take before a veteran, eligible for provisions of GI Bill, can obtain a loan to buy a business or farm? I had a chance to buy a combination store and postoffice in New Hampshire, but Uncle Sam had not released the purse strings so I had to pass it up. Now I have another chance to buy. Is there any set date of the above mentioned provisions being put into effect? C. B. R., North Station.

A—I am sorry to state I cannot answer your question at this time, giving approximate time before business and farm loan provision applications will be available. The Hearst newspapers here in Boston are in daily contact with the Veterans' Administration in Washington trying to ascertain the same information you seek, but get no definite answer. The report we receive is to the effect a special committee of experts, several loaned to the government, along with Veterans' Administration officials are setting up machinery for this phase of the bill, drafting necessary forms and regulations to be followed. Not putting myself out on a limb by giving you a definite answer, a guess would be within the next two or three weeks, and by the same token don't be surprised if announced by Thanksgiving.

Q—My husband is in the Army. I am expecting a baby and would like to know if the government makes arrangements for hospitalization. Do they help pay expenses and can I choose my own doctor? M. T., Newport, R. I.

A—Yes, the Army will assist you in providing pre-natal care and also at childbirth. There is some question on the choosing of your own doctor, but they assign a hospital. Write Personal Affairs Officer, First Service Command Hq., 808 Commonwealth ave., Boston. They will furnish you with the necessary data and tell whom to contact in your locality.

(Questions submitted to Veterans' Friend, Boston Evening American, 5 Winthrop sq., Boston 6, Mass., will be answered in this daily column.)

End the War VICTORIOUSLY
Make the Peace PERMANENTLY
Bring Our Boys Home PROMPTLY

A VICTORY?

AMERICANS are conspicuous for their love of fair play.

Unlike citizens of old world countries, Americans loathe being pushed around.

Americans are intolerant of exploitation.

When labor baiters and sweatshop keepers attempt to take advantage of workingmen, the American conscience is outraged.

Indecency and exploitation, however, are no more acceptable to the plain people of the United States when accomplished under the protective cloak of a labor organization.

In the circumstances, it behooves the genuine friends of American workingmen to warn against the disservice to the labor cause of individuals, such as James C. Petrillo, president of the American Federation of Musicians, who has misused the protection given under the Wagner Act to bona fide trade unions to set up a private toll collecting agency.

In the face of contrary orders from the War Labor Board and a request from President Roosevelt, Mr. Petrillo has compelled the employers to dance to his tune.

He has won a victory, but, since no questions are ever settled until they are settled right, it seems to us that it is indeed a pyrrhic victory.

BECAUSE the employers have at length surrendered to his demands, Mr. Petrillo lifts the blockade which he set up against making musical recordings.

Three leading companies, not wanting to wait longer in idleness at the private toll bridge which Mr. Petrillo had set up in the name of his union, have supinely agreed to pay the union a royalty on each disk sold.

This may indeed become a profitable biproduct for the union, and may create a colossal pot of gold for financing political activity or for enabling ambitious union leaders to feather their own nests.

In announcing the surrender of the businessmen, James W. Murray, general manager of R. C. A.-Victor, made this significant admission:

"In view of Mr. Petrillo's decision not to accept the order of the War Labor Board and the request of the President to obey the Board's order, we had no alternative but to meet the demands of Mr. Petrillo that we make direct payments to the union's treasury, or to abandon our record business, which would have resulted in losses to the public, our employes and artists, our dealers and stockholders."

Thus the high nuisance value which Mr. Petrillo has made for himself by taking advantage of existing law and public sentiment is conceded.

It is apparent that a double standard of morality has been developed.

Labor leaders are being permitted to restrain trade with impunity, whereas businessmen are subject to indictment and civil penalties for similar activities.

Since the popular will wants this to be a government of law, not of men, it is apparent that such infractions will in time react against the legitimate unions carrying on socially useful functions in genuine collective bargaining.

BUY YOUR BOND

THE WHOLE country mobilizes itself today for the Sixth War Bond drive.

No appeals to their oft-proven patriotism are necessary to induce the people of the United States to invest to the full limit of their financial capacity.

All Americans KNOW that this drive is as essential to winning the war and establishing an enduring peace as the fighting at sea and on battlefields.

Every bond that is sold will bring a service man home so much sooner. It is therefore an investment in LIFE, in VICTORY, in PEACE.

PAL, GERMAN shepherd of Appleton, Wis., is probably America's smartest dog. His master is proprietor of a tavern on the highway near Appleton, Wis. Pal opens and shut doors. He brings bottles of beer to customers, takes their money and returns with change. "Are you patriotic?" His master asks and Pal replies by bringing an American flag and waving it. If, as he starts to eat meat, somebody says: "Hitler made it!" Pal will not eat it. This remarkable dog appears to be able to read. His master has 16 signs each having a different printed instruction. When one of the signs is held up Pal looks at it intently and then follows instructions printed on same. Thousands of people visit the highway tavern to see this dog perform. Maybe he should be in the movies.

ALMOST CONFIDENTIAL: A New Yorker found guilty of dealing in liquor in the black market is said to have made a profit of $663,735 in one year. And, of course, he paid no income tax on that. This gives you an idea what those black market ghouls make . . . Is claimed many young women are smoking pipes because they can't get cigarettes. I doubt this claim. However, if it is so, why do these young women permit the cigarette shortage to drive them to desperate measures? Why don't they learn to roll their own? Cigarette tobacco is usually available.

QUERIES FROM CLIENTS. Q—What do you think of having to pay a window cleaner $3.50 an hour? A—That's not so bad if he did a good job. It is a question of supply and demand. Not many people like to clean windows. It is a very tough job. Housewives and maids always try to dodge it. Husbands can't be persuaded to do it. As for myself, I would rather dig ditches, be a city editor or drive a one man bus, than clean windows . . . Q — How do you keep a pipe lit for a long period? PLEASE NOTE: "The war is nearly over." I hear people saying that all the time. For a GI Joe a war is in no way over until it is all over. There is no "nearly" about it. Until the order "cease firing!" is given on both sides he can still be tagged. In World War I a lot of men were killed on Nov. 11, 1918, the day the Armistice was signed. I didn't know any of these fellows But I know of a soldier who was in action in the big final drives in France and survived without a scratch until Nov. 10, 1918. On that day he was killed.

FAIR ENOUGH

By WESTBROOK PEGLER

Copyright, 1944, King Features Syndicate, Inc.

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—Back in the early part of the winter of 1917 (which is a form of newspaper lead that violates all the rules) an American lieutenant-colonel sat on the wide window ledge of a smashed French farmhouse before Mont Sec, eating cold beans out of a can, waiting for dusk when his command would enter the trenches against the Germans for their first serious experience in war.

Westbrook Pegler

This was an outfit of the First Brigade of the First Division, probably the 16th Infantry, and included many green soldiers.

The name of the lieutenant-colonel was Griffith, a new man in the First Division, who spoke with a British inflection and had served with the British 29th Division at Gallipoli, where he was hit by shrapnel. He had a crippled arm but the American Army was glad to get officers with combat experience and this regiment had been fortunate in drawing Col. Griffith, Maj. Aleck Rasmussen and Capt. Jock Manning.

All three had been with the Philippine Constabulary but had quit to get into the war against the Kaiser. Rasmussen, who was a Dane and a great, handsome man, and Manning, a skinny fellow with a seamed and angular face, joined the 97th Battalion of Canadians, known as the American Legion, and fought with the Canadians as company officers, each accepting demotion to get to France.

RASMUSSEN reverted from major to captain and Manning from captain to first lieutenant for this reason and they served in combat with the Canadians until the fall of 1917, when they were released to the Americans, ostensibly as instructors.

They soon attached themselves to the First Division as combat officers, however, and when the First Brigade went in that night all three of the old constables were together.

They all were nervous, realizing that their troops were untried and without experience.

When real darkness closed in, Colonel Griffith mounted a sad little horse and sat by the intersection directing the movement in a dry, quiet but distinct and commanding voice.

ALL THREE were killed at Soissons, and at this point Lt. Gen. Hugh Drum, USA, retired, takes up the story.

In 1899, General Drum was a second lieutenant in the Twelfth Infantry, on the U. S. Army Transport Sheridan, bound from New York to the Philippines by way of the Mediterranean and the Suez Canal.

The convoy stopped at Malta for coal, water, supplies and liberty and, when the ships were about to resume their voyage, a party of British officers came aboard the Sheridan and asked Col. Hell-Roaring Jake Smith for permission to search the vessel for British deserters.

Permission granted, they routed out 10 or 15 British Tommies and took them ashore but missed a number of others who had been hidden away by the American troops and disguised with borrowed American uniforms.

THE NEXT DAY, Col. Smith issued a snap order requiring all enlisted soldiers to salute all officers at every meeting and some of the British stowaways brought up the distinctive British salute which, of course, betrayed them. They were turned over to the British Army at Suez.

However, when the Sheridan reached Manila and the command went ashore and hung out their clothing and gear a number of scarlet British jackets and pill-box caps were seen.

Shortly thereafter an American platoon commander reported he had a British Tommy in his outfit who had performed very brave service in a skirmish and wondered what he was to do.

He was told that he had laid himself liable to charges and punishment but, all things considered, the Americans decided to arrange for the release of the Tommy from the British Army and his enlistment in the Twelfth U. S. Infantry, where he served honorably, later entering the constabulary.

The historians of the First Division might care to communicate with General Drum and verify these blanks in the story of one of their officers, the third member of a trio of brave men who became historic heroes of the organization, originally Private Griffith of His Majesty's forces, who stowed away with the Twelfth aboard the transport Sheridan at Malta, in 1899.

Other bright names will surround Ginny, but she's head girl in this story that gives her a chance to sparkle as a comedienne as well as a songstress.

In most of Ginny's movies she's been spotted as a specialty artist. Now she gets a chance to go to town on her own.

Ginny's just back from ten days of a whirlwind hospital tour in which she sang over 100 songs a day on an average. In one of the biggest hospitals in Texas she did 26 shows in one day. Missy Simms denies her voice gave out. "But it was sure tough on my feet," she says.

Speaking of such deals, Universal isn't even giving Abbott and Costello a chance to get the idea. They are volunteering to give them producer credit on one of their pictures each year.

Broadway . . . By Dorothy Kilgallen

NEW YORK, Nov. 20—I was walking up Broadway in the rain and the wind the other day—foolish pastime!—watching the rain drops bouncing off the black street, and not looking where I was going, and I walked smack into a line of people waiting in front of a theater to see a picture.

Eddie Cantor

This was the Palace, now old before its time. This was the great baseball pitcher now pitching talk in the flea circus. This was the handsome Ziegfeld star now singing in a cracked voice in a 13 cent beer joint. Glass doors now shield the lobby of Siena marble and the gaudy decor of bronze-and-ivory as if in apology. Nineteen years of delirious glory, and then to the show business grave. And 19 is much too young to die.

The Palace's doors were opened with thrilling promise on March 21, 1913. Willie Hammerstein's house at 42nd st., was headlining "Primrose" and "Dockstader's Minstrels" with 12 acts of vaudeville headed by Gertie Vanderbilt . . . Eva Tanguay was topping the bill at the other vaude house, the Colonial, a mile up the street . . . Legit houses across the way held shows starring H. B. Warner and the funny Montgomery and Stone team.

I CHECKED with a dozen stars who swore to a dozen different opening bills. This was it, taken from the opening night and which I found in the Journal-American morgue: La Napierkowska in an Arabian pantomime, "The Captive," from the ballet "Les Aisles" with music by Rymski Kovsakov (exact spelling in the ad) and Lewis Lanne: an operetta entitled "The Eternal Waltz" and the London Palace Girls. Ed Wynn was also on the program; he got minor billing down with a George Ade skit and McIntyre and Heath.

What legends that lurk in the dim corners of that auditorium! Lahr and Mercedes left Blutch Cooper's burlesque show and Agent Charlie Allen pleaded for hours with Bert to leave off his putty nose and fake mustache. The act got $450 and six years later Bert headlined the Palace at $5000 for the week.

Eddie Cantor got $8333 a week the last time he played there and some say this is the record while others insist the Marx Brothers got $10,000 but were asked to keep it a secret to sidetrack jealous demands.

Lillian Russell, top glamour gal, got $3500 in her headlining days and at this period it was estimated that the owners were clearing a half million yearly despite the fact that the house seated only 1735.

NORA BAYES, Irene Franklin and Elsie Janis were the three most popular women to play the theater, but Alla Nazimova set the record for dramatics by being held over for three weeks in "War Brides."

The last vaudeville show in the Palace tradition was in November, 1932, with Hal LeRoy, Nick Lucas, Giovanni and the Honey Family on the trapezes plus a girl named Ola Lilith who sang songs sad and gay. The next week it went picture-vaudeville and the last bill of this type was headed by Columnist Louis Sobol and Ruby Craig, Jr. Then straight pictures, as you see it now.

Boston After Dark

MONDAY MUSINGS (or out of the Saloons into the Salons): There is to be a new and elaborate Wharf Theater on the bayshore of old Provincetown . . . It will be on the site and the successor to the famous old "little" theater where Eugene O'Neill once was produced . . . (The hurricane of 1938 claimed the former Provincetown Theater . . .) Now that is an important item of news to the world of arts and Broadway . . . It is an item one might be expected to pick up in almost any font of news, including Variety or Shubert Alley, but which your reporter—incongruously enough — encountered solely through a contact with the cosmopolites who foregather at the several places in Greater Boston where belles lettres and grande dames prevail . . . Col. The Hon. Ambrose Tucker Gosling, M. P., V. C. (and others) and the first gentleman of Strawberry Hill, Bermuda, as well as Hamilton, is the authority . . . Colonel The Honorable Gosling has just departed Boston.

★ ★ ★

LADY GOSLING, the Col.'s wife, is none other than the former Margaret Hewes, widow of the late Dr. Harry Hewes of Marlborough st., and onetime proprietress of the Provincetown (Wharf) Theater . . . They have been married for nine years, the Goslings . . . Lady Gosling—when she was Margaret Hewes — ran the Wharf Theater, and producing plays was her hobby . . . When she married Sir Ambrose, Lady Gosling was content for several years to preside over the Marble halls of the Gosling hut in the beautiful little isle where her husband's privateering ancestors made themselves solid with The Crown by (first) capturing the territory for His Majesty, and (thereafter) behaving like good tax-paying subjects . . . (The Goslings are reputed to have built up a $20,000,000 fortune in the four or five centuries which have elapsed.)

★ ★ ★

YES, MARGARET HEWES GOSLING is coming back to P-town . . . The new Wharf Theater is to be a beauty and modern . . . Col. The Hon. Ambrose Tucker Gosling will see to that . . . It is Lady Gosling's wish, and the purpose of her squire's visit to Boston was to lay the plans for the future . . . But Bermuda's Mr. Gosling came to town primarily to see Dr. Godwin Brown, the "father" of analgesia in dentistry . . . He arrived four days too late . . . Dr. Brown had passed on.

★ ★ ★

DISBELIEVE THOSE RUMORS about Dr. Serge Koussevitzy and his lovely secretary . . . (New York's most syndicated columnist hinted recently that it was romance—not profession—that was the motivation of the friendship) . . . As a matter of fact, Koussevitzky's secretary, Mrs. Hirshman, once was a great lady of Russia . . . (The famous maestro always pronounces her name as if it were spelled "Girshman," but the Russians handle their "h's" like we articulate our "g's") . . . Mrs. Hirshman was a friend of the lamented Mme. Koussevitzky . . . She fled Russia in 1919, just after Kerenksy's rise and quick decline, and the coming of the Bolsheviki to power.

★ ★ ★

ANOTHER WONDERFUL former lady of old Russia - a "White" Russian, she — is Sonya, wife of William Henry Chamberlain, the man of the world and letters who now holds forth in the shade of Shady Hill (Holden st.) Cambridge . . . Mr. Chamberlain is the Buddha at whose feet sit some of our world-travelers and persons of the intelligentsia eager for more broadening of their understanding globally . . . You might be surprised and certainly would be enchanted at the wayfarers who make their destination the Chamberlain salon in Cambridge . . . Mrs. Chamberlain is a lammister from two generations of totalitarians.

AND SO IS THE LOVELY Mrs. Walter Lovell, a great beauty of not too many years ago, and now the queen of a salon in Sumner rd., Brookline . . . Mrs. Lovell knew Europe first hand as the beautiful daughter (Helen) of the internationally famous Dr. Charles Dubochet . . . The doctor established the first American Hospital in France, the Neuilly Hospital, and he duplicated the effort later as the father of the first American hospital in Russia . . . Her husband, Maj. Walter Lovell was a hero of the World War I Lafayette Escadrille . . . Mrs. Lovell twice escaped authoritarian rule, too . . . she got out of Russia ahead of the Lenin-Trotsky regime, and beat the Nazis by fleeing Paris in time. . . . The Koussevitsky, the Chamberlain, the Lovell salons are notable places in Greater Boston . . . The cultured world, regardless of ideology, is beating paths to the salon doors . . . Dear old Boston!

CORPUS CHRISTI, Tex., Nov. 20—Along about 5 a. m. today I received a telephone call in my hotel room from Mr. Bill Mason, the distinguished room-caller.

"It is time to arise, my pretty one," rumbled Mr. Mason. "The bus for the airport is leaving at 5:45. So, please be down in the lobby by 6 o'clock. This will give you 15 minutes to wait for those who do not get down until 6:15, and you can have great fun cursing those who do not get down until 6:30."

I will admit that Mr. Mason's conversation might seem strange under ordinary circumstances, but not on this survey tour we are taking through Texas. By comparison it represented cold rationality.

I asked Mr. Mason what was afoot.

"We are going out to Kelly Field for breakfast," he said. "Then the Navy is flying up, down to Corpus Christi."

"Never mind where we are going," I said. "Let us take this thing in chronological order. Where are we now?"

"We are in San Antonio," replied Mr. Mason, who is a big General Tire & Rubber Company man from Akron, O. "I am surprised you don't remember. Don't you recall trying to barricade yourself in the Alamo last night and challenging Santa Ana to come in and get you? You say it was a memory test—you wanted to see if he could remember the Alamo."

"You are deliberately distorting the facts," I said coldly. "I knew he could remember all the time. I was merely practicing deception because I told the room clerk I was Sam Houston."

★ ★ ★

ANYWAY, I got downstairs at 7 o'clock and had to wait only 35 minutes. My fellow passengers, who straggled down one by one, comprised the finest body of men you could see outside delirium tremens.

Mr. Kenny Nicholas, of Akron, O., emerged lugging two suitcases and a 10-gallon hat.

"Is this the bus for Little Rock?" he said.

He shook himself a bit and then looked at the hat. Someone asked where he got it.

"That worries me a bit," he said. "I trust I have not decapitated anyone. But I have a distinct recollection that when I got the hat, there was a head in it."

A fellow came up to Mr. Mason and said a man was calling from Corpus Christi to ask what time he had left.

"Give him an evasive answer," said Mr. Mason. "Tell him to go to h——."

★ ★ ★

AT KELLY FIELD I met an officer I used to know in the newspaper business.

"You look lovely," he said. "You are the first guy I ever saw with the bags under his eyes turned down to match his hat."

★ ★ ★

WE WERE TOLD some amazing things about the advances they have made in warplane repairing and reconditioning at Kelly Field. Today they can completely recondition a bunged-up plane and put it back in combat faster than they can build a new one.

A couple of years ago it took two and a half hours to change a wing. Now they do it in 30 minutes.

The job of reconditioning a spark plug used to take an hour. Now it takes 45 seconds.

INCIDENTALLY, I ran into Rep. Lyndon Johnson, of Texas. He said he was pretty concerned about the row at the University of Texas, where President Homer P. Rainey recently quit under accusations of being pinkish.

"You don't get the full significance of this thing up North," said Johnson. "It will be an issue in Texas politics for the next 20 years."

Johnson said that Texas is still in a political turmoil despite the election being over. Nearly everyone I have talked to down here said the same thing.

"What we need in Texas," was the general burden, "is to get back to the two-party system. The Republican Party could solve it easily for us if it would change its name. We just can't bring ourselves to vote for anything called Republican, no matter how much we hate the New Deal. Memories of the days of reconstruction are still too strong."

WE FLEW DOWN here and went out to the King Ranch which is owned by Lame Duck Congressman Dick Kleberg and his brother Bob. The ranch has 1,000,000 acres, give or take a couple of square rods, and has 1,500,000 miles of fencing.

It has upwards of 1000 cowboys, most of them of Mexican extraction. Mr. Slim Suttle, of Greensboro, N. C., who is a very educated fellow, said they are called Vaqueros or Gauchos.

Mr. Bob Kleberg said they have increased the average weight of their market cattle from 1000 to 1800 pounds per animal by selective breeding and growing a special type of fodder grass known as Rhodes grass.

★ ★ ★

I WISH to add that I came away from this mammoth ranch filled with admiration for my colleagues. Although the temptation was almost unbearable, not a single one of them said:

"Well, it's only a little place but we call it home."

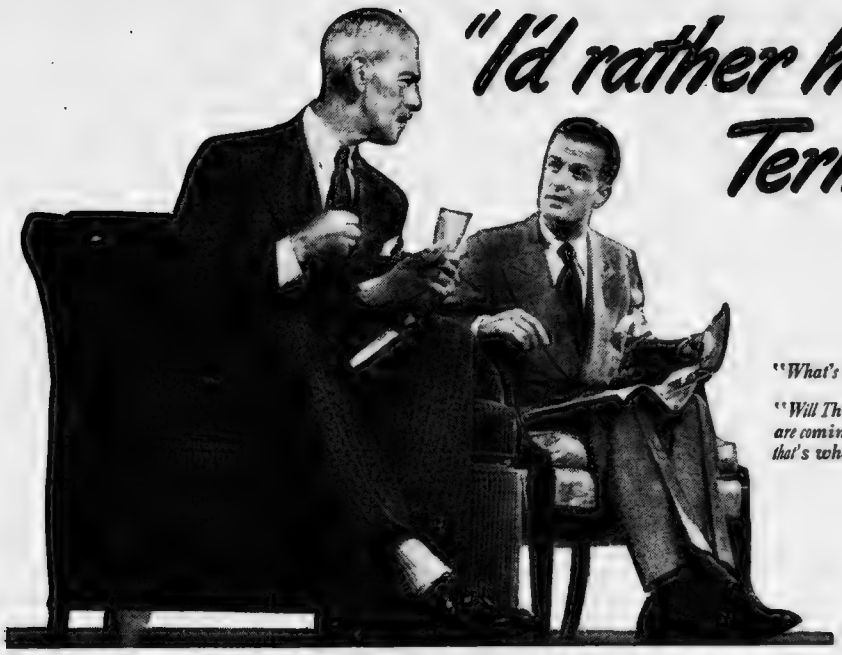
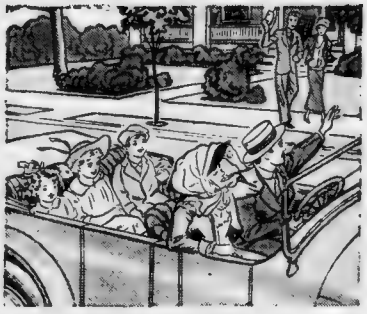
"I'd rather have Termites!"



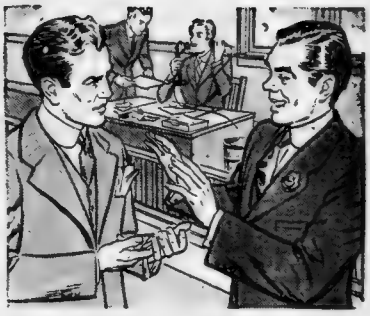
"What's the matter, Uncle Dan?"

"Will Thompson and his brood are coming here for a visit, that's what's the matter!"

"... I grew up with him, from the time we were both six. He moved on here during the last war, and I got him a job at the plant. Wages were way up, and we all had money in our pockets.



"Trouble was, he couldn't keep his there. They spent it as fast as it came in—parties, extra shows, needless trips around the country. You'd have thought he'd got hold of a fortune, instead of a job.



"I told him he'd better save his money. 'This may not last,' I said. 'Things can be a lot different, after the war.' But he just laughed. 'Plenty more where this came from,' was his idea."

"Well, in 1918 the war boom ended, and the big money stopped coming in. I 'lent' him some to tide him over, and I've 'lent' him more since then. He could get along on what he makes, but he never saves any of it for emergencies.

"So that's why I say to you and everybody, Joe, take a tip from the Government and put your money in War Bonds, and life insurance, and a savings account. You may never again have as good an opportunity to build up a backlog."

THE financial health of America as a whole depends upon the financial health of every individual. This in turn depends largely upon how much each of us knows about the part he must play in the general economic picture—for his own best interests and the best interests of the country.

Recognizing this, America's Life Insurance Companies are sponsoring this educational program as a public service to the 68,000,000 owners of life insurance and to every American citizen.

Amazing Hormone Cream Wins Favor

Beauty

By RUTH MUGGLEBEE

AT DINNER the other night, a beautiful theatrical celebrity went into raptures over her discovery of a certain [illegible] cream. She said it had accomplished overnight wonders for her complexion. "You know," she beamed, "it actually filled out my face. Look, no lines. See the youthful bloom? Amazing, isn't it?

We felt for it wasn't so amazing . . . for we were well aware of the remarkable properties of this cream . . . that we were devotees of its beautifiers . . . and time and time again we had boosted its stock not only in the column but to all our friends. Her mentioning of it, however, was a coincidence . . . since we had planned before we met her . . . to do a laudatory birthday editorial for the cream on this . . . its second birthday.

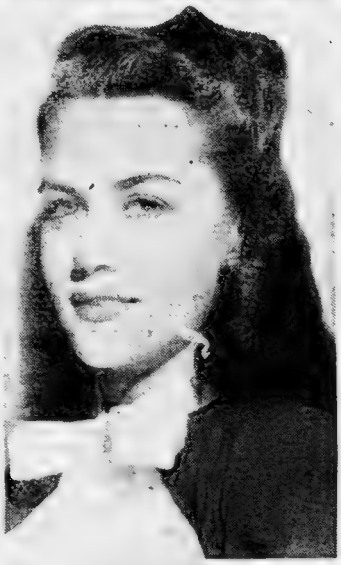
It's since its incipiency . . . this cream has been the beacon light of cosmetic science . . . the herald of the future when scientific creams . . . probably the most wonderful advance the world of beauty has ever known . . . [illegible] common erasers of [illegible] women's real-life [illegible] story.

FIRST HORMONE CREAM

Many other creams have followed suit in compounding creams to counteract acute and [illegible] aging. Certain [illegible] of them are really good . . . but this cream will always be the parent of the hormone cream . . . the first cream to help replace what nature and advancing years have taken away from the skin. It does not superficially [illegible] aging skin . . . it really helps the skin itself . . . rebuilding and rejuvenating the skin tissue so that the complexion emerges with new, firm, and resilient radiance of a youthful appearance.

We don't like to get technical nor get all tangled up in medical terminology . . . and you probably don't want to read why such a hormone cream can be absorbed through the surface layers of the skin . . . thus permitting its penetration all the way down to the deepest layers. All you want to know is whether this cream can make your skin look young and ageless free from wrinkles and sagging. The women who use it swear by it. Its makers say you'll note a difference within five or six weeks. My skin responded in much less time.

For the name of this youthful skin cream, phone the Beauty Dept., LIBerty 4-000 or write to me, care of the Boston Evening American, inclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.



YOUTH IS AN ELUSIVE THING at best . . . but when a woman's face begins to show signs of age, she experiences bitter reality. We can grow old gracefully . . . but we must not let our face reveal our years . . . not when an amazing hormone cream, scientifically compounded to combat the ravages of nature, can help us to repair the facial signs by rejuvenating complexion tissue. Youthful, lovely war star, Dorothy Malone, poses.

My Day

By Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt

WASHINGTON, Sunday—Friday afternoon in Washington I spent an hour or more going through a ward at the Naval Hospital where the plastic surgery cases are being treated. We have made great advances in this art during the war, and I was much encouraged by seeing the really wonderful results which have been attained in many difficult cases. It will mean so much to young men who might otherwise have carried very bad scars for the rest of their lives.

In the evening I went to an open house meeting of the Camp Fire Girls and was presented with an adult membership pin.

* * *

ON SATURDAY MORNING I attended the graduation exercises at American University of one of the Red Cross groups. Training courses for the various branches of Red Cross work are held there, and the activity really resembles a three-ring circus.

People come in every Monday morning for a course of training which lasts for varying periods. If they are not immediately needed, they are given some field work in this country before going overseas. Of course, some of them are going to work in this country permanently, and for them field training is not so important, since they can afford to get it on the job.

But very often the need overseas is so great that they start for their final destination after a short period in the university courses. For this reason, the training period has to do both a theoretical and a practical educational job. I think the faculty is really extraordinary in its achievements.

* * *

I HAD A FEW LADIES at lunch on Saturday in honor of Mrs. Thomas J. Walsh. Then, after attending the bazaar of the parish guild at St. Thomas' Church, I had a tea in honor of the South American women journalists who have come here as guests of the Women's National Press Club and the coordinator of Inter-American affairs. These women are all distinguished journalists from Chile, Cuba, Ecuador, Guatemala, Peru and Uruguay.

In the evening Gov. and Mrs. Ingram M. Stainback of Hawaii, Mr. and Mrs. Chesley Bowles and a few other friends came for dinner. Afterward Lt. Robert Catlow, who has been a patient at Walter Reed Hospital, came with Miss Barbara Nash and Miss Campbell to give a short concert.

Flower Accessories

By BETTINA BEDWELL

WHEN IT comes to accessories to animate our midwinter styles, the theme is completely democratic. It is quite all right to mix a peasant blouse with a queenly tiara hat, for instance.

The newest thing in berets is the vagabond beret, which gets along fine with jewelry inspired by the symbols of French Kings; as another example, Miss Duda has sketched this latter pair for you.

The vagabond beret here is made of black Persian lamb fur, and worn tilted far over the right eye. Brogard, who designed it, trims it with green satin ribbons set at the back. The two Castlecliff clips sketched with the beret are made of pearls and brilliants set in gold-plated silver and are in the shape of the fleur de lis, which was the insignia of French Kings in bygone days. One petal of the flower forms charming earrings to make a set.

Festive Roast Pork Dinner for Holiday

Fashion

By MARTHA LEE

LOTS OF US feel this year that "splurge" on the Thanksgiving dinner is out of place. This dinner will be a feast of good eating from beginning to end, but is not extravagant.

Apple and Grapefruit Salad
French Dressing
Twisted Crackers
Seasoned Cottage Cheese
Roast Pork Shoulder
Savory Stuffing
Franconia Potatoes
Creamed Onions Spinach
Hot Rolls Jelly
Pumpkin Pie

ROAST PORK SHOULDER

Have the butcher skin a trimmed, fresh picnic shoulder of medium to large size and remove the bones. Wipe the meat with a damp cloth. Lay the boned shoulder, fat side down, and carefully cut a few gashes in the parts where the meat is thickest so that it will hold more stuffing. Sprinkle with salt and pepper. Pile in some hot stuffing, begin to sew the edges of the shoulder together to form a pocket, and gradually work in the rest of the stuffing, not packing it, but putting in lightly as much as the shoulder will hold.

The recipe for stuffing given below makes the right quantity for a 3 to 4 pound shoulder; for a larger shoulder make the stuffing on the basis of 3 cups of bread crumbs. Increase other ingredients proportionately.

Rub the outside of the stuffed shoulder with salt, pepper, and flour. Place the roast on a rack in an open pan without water, and cook slowly in 350 deg. F. oven, allowing 35 to 40 minutes per pound, until meat is tender.

Coffee Pumpkin Pie

SAVORY STUFFING

2 cups fine dry bread crumbs
½ cup chopped celery
2 tbsp. butter or margarine or drippings
1 tbsp. chopped onion
1 tbsp. chopped parsley
½ tsp. celery seed
¼ tsp. savory seasoning
¾ tsp. salt ⅛ tsp. pepper

Melt the fat in a skillet, add the celery, onion, and parsley, and cook for a few minutes. Then add the bread crumbs and other seasonings and stir until well mixed and hot.

FRANCONIA POTATOES

Wash and pare 6 medium-sized potatoes. Parboil 5 to 10 minutes in boiling salted water. Drain and arrange in pan with meat that is roasting. Cook 40 to 50 minutes, until tender, turning potatoes occasionally to brown on all sides. 6 servings.

COFFEE PUMPKIN PIE

One-crust pastry
½ cup sugar
½ tsp. ginger
1 tsp. cinnamon ½ tsp. salt
¼ cup molasses
2 eggs, slightly beaten
¾ cup hot milk
¾ cup hot coffee
1½ cups cooked, canned or frozen pumpkin

Line 9-inch pie pan with pastry. Mix sugar, spices, salt and molasses. Add slightly beaten eggs, milk, coffee and pumpkin. Mix well, pour into unbaked pastry shell, and bake in moderately hot oven (425 deg. F.) 40 to 45 minutes, until inserted knife comes out clean. Cool and garnish with halved almonds. Makes one 9-inch pie.

Note: If frozen pumpkin pie mix is used, omit sugar, molasses, spice and salt.

A TOPPER TRIUMPH that goes through school and graduates with honors is this smart girl's version of the belted top coat . . . that rates an "A" on the campus and wins compliments on dates. Deep pockets disdain the patched look . . . take a feminine curve at the hip and fasten with a plastic button . . . mate to one at the small collar. Pull the belt tight for a nipped waist . . . and the okay sign from your class hero.—R. M.

Asks Her to Wait

DEAR MISS FAIRFAX: I am 20 and my boy friend is 21. We've known each other for four years, and he has always said he's very fond of me. He's in the Army and writes in his letters that he hopes I'll wait for him and we'll be married after the war.

I care a lot for him and have no desire for others. Yet my friends tell me that if I've known him this long and he hasn't married me (he's still in the U. S.), he has no intention of doing so later. They say I'm wasting my time, and that I should start going with someone else.

Should I continue waiting for him? He says if we married now, he didn't think he could do his share in the Army, knowing that I wasn't getting the companionship a wife should have.

F. L. M.

As you've asked my advice about your problem, please let me say I think the boy you've known for four years has taken a very mature view of the situation.

At 21, few men are able to support a wife even half way, unless she keeps her job. And in suggesting that you wait until he is out of the Army, he realizes he is not able to give you the companionship he will be able to give you after the war. He sounds like a sensible fellow to me.

Wine Cookbook

Broiled Chicken au Sauterne

Split 2 small fryers for broiling. Simmer necks, giblets in water with parsley and sliced onion. When tender, add 1 cup California Sauterne or Rhine Wine, strain and use for basting. Chop giblets fine, set aside. Rub chickens with garlic, sprinkle with lemon juice, salt, and pepper, brush with oil. Place skin side down in shallow pan, low under broiler. Turn occasionally, baste frequently. When chickens are well-browned (about 30 minutes) remove from pan. Thicken remaining sauce with 1 tbsp. each flour and butter rubbed together, add chopped giblets, heat and pour over chicken. Serves 4.

Notes on Wine Cookery

• Wine alcohol evaporates when heat is applied, so the whole family can enjoy wine-cooked dishes like the chicken cooked as above.

• Pour some Sherry over a sectioned grapefruit half for the first course of the dinner...or for an unusual dessert.

THE SAILOR ON FLIGHT 3*

2:00 a.m. . . . Again the United Mainliner stewardess studied the young sailor. He seemed restless; his face was flushed.

"Are you well?" she asked, worried.

He attempted a smile. "Sure, I'm all right."

Nevertheless she gave him a blanket. She watched him as the miles slipped past. Lights were dimmed. Passengers slept. Westward the Mainliner flew . . . Des Moines . . . Omaha . . .

The girl kept vigil. She checked his temperature and pulse. Rising! 4:00 a.m. . . . North Platte . . . He was asking for water . . . 5:10 a.m. . . . Pulse fast. Temperature over 102! This lad is ill, she knew. Yet, loyally, he insisted he must continue on to his base in California. Impossible! He was worse!

She called the pilot. A moment later he was talking on the two-way radio, his urgent words flashing through the night: "Flight 3 calling Denver . . ."

That boy had pneumonia. At Denver everything was in readiness. An ambulance rushed him to the hospital. Naval authorities were notified.

Considering the welfare of its passengers is the duty of United. But here was an incident in which a stewardess's human and sympathetic understanding sprang from something far deeper than merely following company rules. For at Denver she was now off duty. The boy was on the way to a hospital. Her job was done

But no! She had to be certain that he received the finest possible attention. So she rode in the ambulance with him. Another thought troubled her. His family! She visualized their anxiety when they heard that their son was ill.

So she wrote them detailed letters, reporting everything, cheering them when the boy was finally past danger. Only then did she feel free to relax.

The father wrote us: "Service such as this is over and above the line of duty. My wife and I are most thankful that Bob was traveling via United Air Lines when this emergency occurred."

Service? Yes, but something more. You'll find it in the thoughtful attention and cooperation offered by every United employee . . . the underlying spirit of United Air Lines itself!

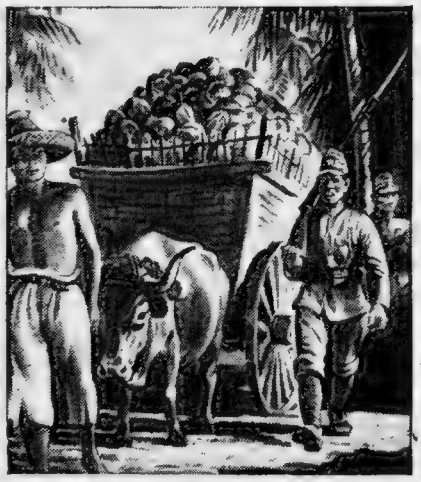
What has V-J Day got to do with your saving Used Fats?



THE JAPS ARE STILL HOLDING the Pacific Areas from which we used to import one billion pounds of fats and oils each year. Our whipping of Germany doesn't change this picture one bit—because the Japs, not the Germans have our fats.

NOT UNTIL we blow those Japs sky high—not until V-J Day, the day of complete victory over Japan—can we stop saving used fats in our kitchens. We must have these fats not only to make gunpowder, but for medicines to fight jungle disease, for tanks, synthetic rubber, soaps and parachutes.

Ann Sargent's Debut

By BETTY ALDEN

BARRING SNOW and ice Ann Sargent will fly home from Briarcliff Junior College Wednesday night for a happy week-end that will provide many gay reminders for her debutante memory book.

Most exciting event will be her own debut tea dance to be given Saturday afternoon at the Ritz-Carlton by her parents, Mr. and Mrs. John A. Sargent of Chestnut Hill.

For the holiday she is bringing her classmate, Betsy Mann of Buffalo, and her roommate, Nancy MacColl of Providence, is coming for the tea dance. Friday evening Ann will be one of Virginia Brown's guests at a dinner party before the Waltz Night and the next day she returns the compliment by having Ginny as head pourer at the tea dance.

ANN SARGENT—Makes debut Saturday at Ritz-Carlton tea dance.

ANOTHER of Ann's pourers, Eleanor Pingree of Weston cheered Uncle Sam's team at the Navy-Purdue game in Annapolis where she is visiting Rev. Dr. and Mrs. Luther Neff. She had a week's whirl in Washington before going on to Annapolis and still more gaiety at a round of informal parties for the midshipmen. Daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Pingree, she expects to be home in time for Thanksgiving dinner.

NOTES FROM a Society Editor's Cuff: By this time Ens. Frederick S. Troy, Jr., USCGR, will undoubtedly have seen his six-months-old baby daughter for the first time. At last report his attractive wife, the former Mary Favorite, was excitedly waiting for the call announcing Freddy was on his way home. While he has been on the high seas Mary and the baby have been living with her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Calvin Foster Favorite of Commonwealth ave.

Attractive Ann Clarke of Brookline, lunching at the Junior League with Barsha Powers Shattuck, was being teased for getting her dates mixed and arriving a day late, all dressed up in her best bib and tucker, for the Vincent Club's fall luncheon. Ann works at the Underwater Sound Lab and Barsha is job hunting.

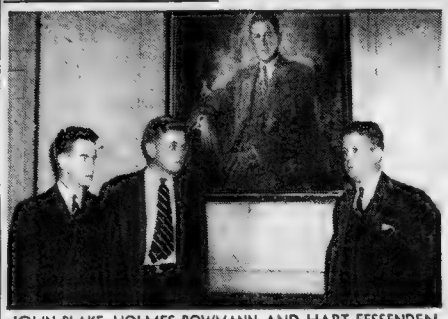
If rubbing of plates causes irritation and sore spots, FASTEETH will help hold them tighter, relieve soreness and soothe gums irritated by loose plates. Eat, talk and laugh with more comfort and security. Just sprinkle a little FASTEETH, the alkaline (non-acid) powder on your plates. Checks plate odor or stale breath. Get FASTEETH at any drug store.



JOHN BLAKE, HOLMES BOWMANN AND HART FESSENDEN
Pose With Latter's Portrait After Its Unveiling Yesterday

Fessenden School Head Honored

The Fessenden School, West Newton, today has a life-sized portrait of Hart Fessenden, which was unveiled at an impressive ceremony attended by the school's 225 students, their parents, friends and members of the faculty.

Gift of John Blake, an alumnus, and his brother Gary, a member of the class of 1945, the portrait is the work of Harold Bret, noted artist. The donors are sons of Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blake of Wellesley Hills.

Holmes Bowmann, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald Bowmann of Rye, New York, whose dad is also an alumnus of Fessenden, received the painting which was hung over the fireplace in Evans Room of Fessenden Hall.

A tea followed the unveiling and among those attending were Mr. and Mrs. Hart Fessenden, Mr. and Mrs. Harry Blake, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick J. Fessenden, Arthur Dudley Fay, Edward Moore, Mr. and Mrs. Howard Hale Plumley, Mr. and Mrs. Roderick Hagenbuckle and Mr. and Mrs. Mervin Shepard Giles.

Also Lynn Austin Brown, Mr. and Mrs. Paul Curtis Rogers, Charles R. Guss, Mr. and Mrs. Frederick E. Sears, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Everett R. Slocum, Herbert Henry Hosmer, Jr., Mr. and Mrs. Herbert B. Gill, Lena Frances Hovenden, Mrs. Clyde Elaine Goodhue, Anastasia L. McAvoy, Mrs. Sophie Barker, Mrs. Olive C. Eaton, Gilbert Taylor Gledhill, Carl E. Grabau, Mrs. Katherine S. Johnson, Dr. Frank R. Girl of 9 Wins War Fund Award

Greater Boston United War Fund officials today presented the Red Feather Award-of-the-Day to 9-year-old Emily Marie Surabian of Woods rd., Medford, for the $2 contribution she earned for the campaign.

Emily, a vivacious soprano, earned her $2 by singing at a church club and asked that it be designated for War Prisoners' Aid, in tribute to her uncle who is missing in action.

The young singer has sold $2,000,000 worth of war bonds in three years, and sings regularly for wounded servicemen at Brighton Marine Hospital.

Fund workers gathered at the City Club today for the final Dutch treat luncheon to receive last official reports in the drive before close of the campaign Wednesday night.

Francis C. Gray, former fund chairman, was principal speaker, and the invocation was offered by Rev. Palfrey Perkins of King's Chapel. Henry A. Laughlin, fund chairman, was presented the Jewish Advocate's weekly carnation, awarded for outstanding civic and humanitarian service.

BOSTON Was a Name to Conjure with in the Forties.

The restoration and full development of the Port of Boston is the greatest natural postwar project in the nation. But New England leaders must act without delay, if Massachusetts—and indeed all New England—is to enjoy a full share of the great world commerce that will follow the War.

As Governor Saltonstall wisely pointed out:

"The Port of Boston is one of the greatest ports on the Atlantic seaboard. There is every reason why the Commonwealth should be interested in the development of this port, including the desirability of protecting its more than $20,000,000 investment therein. We must strive to make it a growing and vital element in the life of our state."

Since 1865, Boit, Dalton & Church have been leading insurance underwriters. Our firm stands ready to serve you on every type of Marine and Transportation Insurance . . . to help again make BOSTON THE BERTH OF THE NATION.*

We shall gladly send you important data on the Port of Boston upon request

"I wuz thinkin'...."

by Izzy Ort

Me Essex Street Grille and El Tropico Room manager, Nat Clark, jess got a letter from his son Sammy who is somewhere in New Guinea with the Navy. Sammy says that when he drinks that warm beer over there he always thinks of those cool, good ones at Ort's . . . and he hopes that this doggone war will soon be over fer a lot of reasons, one of which is so that he and the rest of our boys can come back to a swell place like me Grille and get a real glass of beer. Thanks fer the plug, Sammy. Down here at me Grille and El Tropico Room me and all the employees are 100% behind the big United War Fund drive here in Boston. The same goes fer Al Taxier and the swell gang of boys and gals down at Jack's Cafe in Charlestown, and fer Joe Mirisola and his bunch at Hurley's Log Cabin. The Knickerbocker on Stuart Street and the Rex Grille on the corner of Washington and Broadway, too, have fine employee groups who are 100% behind this Greater Boston United War Fund . . . Of course, fokes, wot I'm hinting is, why not let's all get behind this big drive which is certainly a worthy cause, and tied up with winning the war and the peace, too . . . Fer fun and relaxation, see the new show at me El Tropico Room, featurin' Princess Shollo and Woogie. Ort's Grille and El Tropico Room, 25 Essex Street. Advt.

Fairness Is Assured All in History Award Tests

Questions in the Thursday, Nov. 30, elimination tests of the William Randolph Hearst National American History Awards will be sent to participating schools only a few minutes before the examinations start, to assure fairness to the thousands of competing students.

Contestants in 41 Boston public and parochial high schools will answer 20 questions on American history and also write an essay of not more than 250 words on an historical subject, which they may choose from three topics.

From the thousands of contestants the three best papers will be chosen, with their authors named as finalists in the national tests to be held Monday, Dec. 11, in the 13 participating cities. Boston finalists will take their examinations in Faneuil Hall.

Competitors in the local elimination tests will share in awards of $1000 in War Bonds donated by the Boston American, Record and Sunday Advertiser. In addition a $100 set of history books will be presented to the school whose pupils make the best record in the test.

Rescue Squad

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—A subway customer dropped a package in an iron-barred turnstile and, having trouble extricating it, called so vehemently for help that a police emergency squad was summoned.

The police assisted sympathetically when they understood the valuable nature of the parcel—a carton of cigarettes.

PLYMOUTH — "LAUGHING WATER," John Golden's production of the new comedy by Phoebe and Henry Ephron, brings Harry Bannister and Evelyn Varden to a local stage tonight in a play concerned with the adventures of a woman manager of a girls' summer camp. Supporting cast is headed by Paula Trueman, Ann Andrews, Leon Janney, Patricia White, Effie Afton, Irene Dailey and Maxine Stuart. Two weeks.

Continuing

SHUBERT—"LAFFING ROOM ONLY," Olsen and Johnson's new comedy carnival with the star comedians, Betty Garrett, Mata and Hari, Willie West, Frank Libuse, Ida James and many others, continues for a third week. John Murray Anderson staged the production and is responsible for the lighting. Robert Alton devised the choreography; Stewart Chaney, the scenery; Billy Livingston, the costumes; Burton Lane, the words and music.

COLONIAL — "SING OUT, SWEET LAND!" The Theater Guild's all-American musical with Alfred Drake, Burl Ives, Alma Kayo, Michael Fitzmaurice, Bibi Osterwald, Philip Coolidge, Ellen Love, James Westerfield, J. B. McCauley and Peter Hamilton. Lawrence Langner and Theresa Helburn supervised the production. Walter Kerr wrote the book; Leon Leonidoff staged the production; Elie Siegmeister wrote the arrangements and directed the orchestra and chorus; Charles Weidman and Doris Humphrey are the dance directors; Albert Johnson is responsible for the scenery; Lucinda Ballard created the costumes.

WILBUR — "A BELL FOR ADANO." Paul Osborn's dramatization of John Hersey's fine best-seller, continues for a second and final week with Fredric March and Margo. H. C Potter directed.

November 27

WILBUR "DEAR RUTH," the new comedy by Norman Krasna, begins a two-week run here with Phyllis Povah, Virginia Gilmore, Howard Smith and John Dall reading the cast. It has been staged by Moss Hart.

December 4

PLYMOUTH — "HERALD FOR BERNICE," the new Jacques Duval three-character comedy starring Gertrude Lawrence, will be presented by Gilbert Miller in Charles Stewart.

OPERA HOUSE — "TROPICAL REVUE," Katherine Dunham's exotic entertainment of music and dance.

December 6

N. E. MUTUAL HALL PURPLE DUST," Sean O' Casey's yell styard "Wayward" comedy, will be given a world premiere by the Trouters Theater Players.

December 11

"ON THE TOWN," a new musical by Adolph Green, Betty Comden and Jerome Robbins and with a score by Leonard Bernstein, goes into rehearsal this week under George Abbott's direction. Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer and RKO-Keith-Orpheum are jointly interested in the show, to be Paul Feigay production which will have Sono Osato and Nancy Walker and Jenny Johnston in important parts.

December 25

"THE TEMPEST" Opera Guild's production of the Shakespeare opera with Vera Zorina and Camilla Lee in the leading roles.

SHUBERT — "A LADY OF" the Messrs. Shubert's production of a new musical in association with Clayton Ashley, stars Hollywood's Carole Landis in her first Christine Hughes, Hobby Morris, Arthur Maxwell and dancer Tamara Geva, star of the Ballet Russe de Monte Carlo. The book is by Clayton Ashley, music by Ivy Stanley Adams, lyrics by Arthur Greenwin and Fred Stevenson. Scenery will be by Watson Barrett, staging by Ian Keith. Boris M'Kenka created the dances. Natalie Kamarova, Le ballet comique.

PLYMOUTH — "MANY HAPPY RETURNS," the new Norman Krasna comedy, is now in rehearsal with Henry Hull, Mary Astor, Nan Sunderland, Ivan Simpson, Jayne Cotter, Peter Lee Lynn, Nan Baker, Michael Lawrence and Vincent Gardenier being the cast. Hull is directing the play assisted by Rex C. Mason. Stewart Chaney is designing the sets. Two weeks.

Dorothy Kilgallen writes "Broadway" every day for the Boston American.

Skytrain Crash Kills 26 Yanks

LONDON, Nov. 20 (AP)—Twenty-six American soldiers were killed and four injured in the crash last night of a C-47 skytrain troop carrier en route from England to France, air force headquarters announced today.

The plane was not a hospital ambulance, and it was stated that contrary to earlier reports there were no wounded men or flight nurses aboard.

The skytrain, a transport type that has carried thousands of men to battle, crashed near an 800 foot peak north of Brighton, in southern England. Six victims were taken to a nearby hospital, where two died and the others remained in serious condition.

CLOSE OUSTER EXPLAINED

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—The National Broadcasting Co.'s decision to replace news commentator Upton Close, says Niles Trammell, NBC president, "does not involve in the slightest degree the principle of free speech which we have always upheld."

FAST RELIEF from COLD DISTRESS

...and they call that Thanksgiving!

130,000 modern Pilgrims will be piling into our wartime fleet of 150 buses between Nov. 22 and 26 if we can judge by past experience. About 13,000 of them will be G. I. Joes on furlough. Your best thanksgiving present to them would be to plan your pilgrimage starting before and returning after this peak travel period!

THE TRUE FAMILY LAXATIVE

DOUBLE TROUBLE

Yawkey-to-Yanks Comes Alive Again

By AUSTEN LAKE

YOU CAN SWALLOW this pill plain or chase it down with skepticism. Its a capsule of pure, homeopathic truth.

Well then, as chief trustee of the New York Yankees with sole sales-power, Gen. Mgr. Ed Barrow is striving mightily to sell the club, including the big stadium, athletes, franchise and multiple farm system, to Thomas Austin Yawkey, the present proprietor of the apathetic Red Sox.

And apparently Barrow has received Tom's consent to shop around for a purchaser of the Fenway property, on the assumption that if he can get a fair price, Tom will dig down into his hereditary sock and fish up sufficient extra millions to buy Barrow's big bauble.

Austen Lake

This much is fact, no matter what denying snorts and professions of ignorance we will be getting from 24 Jersey st., or the Bronx or Yawkey's Carolina shooting lodge.

Within recent hours this news snoopers sat in New York with several gentlemen of substance and character who were members of the Larry McPhail syndicate, which the high voltage red head had formed to buy the Yankees. McPhail's group wanted to buy and had the funds. But Barrow, as sole sales arbiter, named such an outlandish price that the syndicate pinched its nostrils and said, "Phooie."

* * *

Yawkey O. K.

Whether Barrow regarded MacPhail's merchandising methods too moonstruck for Yankee dignity, or whether his friendship for Yawkey transcended mere sordid cash considerations, deponent saith not. He just wouldn't sell MacPhail, but he would sell Yawkey. And the Yankee property, by the terms of the late Jake Ruppert's will, was his to hold or auction, as he saw fit.

Thus—and it must have been with Tom Yawkey's consent (Simple logic says so!) Barrow fished through Boston financial waters and found a prospective buyer who is interested, at a right price! Who that man is and what price is not revealed. But a dicker is definitely on! If Yawkey is willing to take—O, let's say $2,000,000 for his $1,500,000 investment, the Fenway sale may be made and Tom can ante three or four or five more millions and realize his secret dream, to become the No. 1 baseball owner and pennant monopolist of the nation.

You've heard this Yawkey-to-the-Yanks yarn before! But this time there's flame under the smoke. Barrow wouldn't go meddling in Red Sox sales agent without Yawkey's say-so. Well, would he? And now 78 years of age, Barrow knows that his own active years are dwindling. The Yankees must be sold to settle the Ruppert estate and meet the Federal inheritance tax. That adds up!

* * *

Yawkey Sensitive

ALSO it is more than common gossip that for several years Yawkey has been wrestling with impatience over Red Sox failure. And though he has said that he didn't want any profits, merely asking that his plant be self-supporting, he gradually grew sensitive to the notion that Boston regarded him as a jovial spendthrift who was kissing his paternal millions away for the sake of seeing the banknotes flutter.

So, long ago he made it clear that he was finished with dumping hereditary funds into the Fenway sinkhole which had soaked up $4,500,000. And in latter seasons the fun seemed to have gone out of his toy and he became fairly disabused of any pennant notions. Although he never ceased to be a baseball fanatic, the fun had gone out of his toy and he ceased to traipse around the country with his team or sit away the sunny hours with his stars. He came occasionally to peer down from his private roof coop with a speculative smoulder in his eye, but as time rolled by he came less and less.

The fact is that beneath Yawkey's round-faced jollity which deceives strangers into thinking that he is laughing his way through life, and behind his boyish weakness for baseball, he is a solid business man who runs his mines, mills, railroads, forests and investments profitably. He has improved his patrimony of some 30 millions instead of sweating it down. And now with government war contracts he is more than ever hobbled in New York.

And, anyone who knows Tom knows that he is a New Yorker at heart with a New Yorker's almost psychopathic admiration for the best and biggest there is. So in later years he has taken to spending his afternoon hours more and more at the big Yankee crater and hobnobbing with Barrow and inviting the growly old office boss to his Carolina fish-and-game preserve. Twix Ed and Tom has grown a deep companionship and mutual regard.

So this is not the first time that the Yawkey-Yankee deal has been mentioned. But it IS the first time any tangible move to do business has occurred. The pot is definitely on the fire—not perhaps a boil, but certainly at a preliminary summer.

* * *

WHAT CAN YAWKEY expect to salvage from his $4,500,000 Fenway investment? Certainly far from the capital sum! Originally he paid Bob Quinn and his backers $1,200,000—and a jolly good price at that considering the raggety appleknockers and the patched condition of the park.

So he rebuilt the park and poured out large sums for Connie Mack's pennant weary stars on the assumption he was transplanting a championship but found that actually he was only transplanting inertia. And he laid $250,000 on the line for Joe Cronin. And he bought a couple of minor league farms.

And at last when nothing much happened Tom gradually ceased to root his side home with body squirms and shudders of his diaphragm because there was nothing to squirm or shudder about. And though, like many another rich man of his time, he preferred to have a hobby which soaked up enough of his surplus profits from many other sources to remove him from the loftier income tax brackets, he was sporting enough to want some pennants for his outlay.

* * *

SO, when Col. Ruppert died five years ago, Tom began churning away in his soul with thoughts that he might have bought the greatest baseball show on earth right in his home town for little more than he paid for his Boston flop. And now he might be commuting by taxicab from his office to his palatial horseshoe and be crowned as baseball's royalty.

The chances may be that, as a very stubborn cuss with his personal ambitions, that he will succumb to his yearning before next spring and buy in New York the dream that never came quite real in Boston. If so, I am sure you will agree that he owes Boston nothing and, if he gave us no pennants, we got a grand romp for his money.

THEY'LL DO IT EVERY TIME

Davis Ace of Yanks' Triumph

By HUCK FINNEGAN

Of all the Yanks who took part in the 13-6 victory over Brooklyn at Fenway, happiest today was Bob Davis. For Davis, booed earlier in the season, had the 16,487 fans cheering him thunderously all during the game.

Among Davis' contributions to the Yanks victory were: First period—streak from 3-yard stripe into far corner of end zone for first TD; second period—intercept McGibbony pass on five-yard line when Tigers threatened; knock down McGibbony and Fryer passes which had TD labels; race from 10-yard line to Tigers 10, and 80-yard sprint that would have ended in TD had Manders been blocked by one of trio who had shot at him; fourth period—take Carter punt on own 30, run it back to midfield, on next play pass 25 yards to Ransport, from which point Cafego pass to Ranspot gave Yanks winning TD.

He played 55 minutes against as rough a team as there is in the league, kept fighting to the last minute despite swollen lip and shoulder hurt.

"He was as great a halfback against the Tigers as I've ever seen," said Wayne Millner (Notre Dame and Redskins).

"He played one helluva game," said Coach Kopf, "but he was even better against the Bears a week ago. He's just coming into his own."

In early October, Davis looked like the world's worst passer from the quarterback position under the center. He was flattened repeatedly for losses without even getting the ball away. That's why the fans rode him. They didn't understand. Kopf did, however, Davis was getting no protection.

So you can admire the youngster's courage when he called upon himself to make the pass from the QB post that started the Yanks toward their winning TD against the Tigers. It was a thing of beauty, and you could almost hear Davis thinking: "I could have been doing that long ago with any sort of help."

It recalled a vow he had made on that early October day: "I'll make 'em sorry for booing me, and we'll make some club in this league sorry we ever entered it."

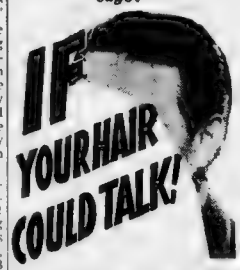
Well, the Yanks certainly have made Brooklyn sorry, having beaten them twice and being responsible for the firing of Coach Pete Cawthon "And we'll make the Redskins and Detroit sorry in the next two weeks," said Davis, his eyes agleam. "We're a real ball club today. I only wish we were starting the season instead of finishing it."

Davis is down to 180 from 195. He averages 55 minutes a game. "I laid out last year, and it hurt me," he said. "I'm just getting the feel of things again." Davis was the property of the Eagles, refused to report to them in '43 because they wanted to make him a blocking back. Davis leads the league in punt returns and is near the top in pass interceptions.

* * *

The Yanks autographed the ball and sent it to Owner Ted Collins, who had to leave the park at half-time . . . Capt. Keith Ranspot has completed 17 passes . . . "Give Cafego a plug," Kopf asked the writers. "He played most of the game on one leg." Kopf planned to use him sparingly, had no alternative when Gudmundson was injured on the opening kickoff . . . The heavier Tigers roughed it up, yet it was the Tigers themselves who were carried from the field, not the Yanks. Fryer suffered a broken nose, McGibbony a dislocated shoulder, Masterson a broken ankle, Strom and Butler lesser injuries

JOHN WARNER says:



The conversation might be like this: "Here I've given you the best years of my life and look how you neglect me. If I don't get some attention around here I'm going to leave. When I'm gone maybe you'll appreciate how much I mean to you. Why don't you take me to see John E. Warner and Associates. They really know how to make hair happy and contented. If you can't take a hint, how can you expect me to stay?"

If we can help you save your hair we'll tell you so. If we can do nothing for you, we'll tell you that, too. We're proud of the public's faith in our integrity, because that's the reason for our success. There is no charge for examination or consultation.

Packers Titlists

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (AP)—The western division of the National Football League sat back today—its championship settled—but in the eastern and there still were problems that may not be solved until the finale Dec. 10.

The Green Bay Packers "backed" their way into their first Western Division title since 1939 yesterday. They dropped a 24-0 decision to New York, but at the same time the Chicago Bears, only team that had a possible chance of overhauling them, fell before Detroit, and Frankie Sinkwich, 41-21.

The Packers have but one more game to play, against the hapless Card-Pitt combination here next Sunday. But even should the intercity combine turn in an upset, Green Bay still would be western division titlist. Detroit saw to that with its upset of the Bears.

But while the western division has its title worries settled, Philadelphia, now in first place, still had a lot of protecting to do before it could claim the eastern division crown. The Eagles dumped previously unbeaten Washington Redskins, 37-7, yesterday. Still unbeaten but tied twice, the Eagles have the Chicago Bears, Brooklyn and Cleveland to meet on successive Sundays.

BOY GRID FATALITY

PORTLAND, Me., Nov. 20 (AP)—Bartley Conley, 16, died last night of injuries suffered in a sandlot football game earlier in the day. He was taken from the field unconscious after making a tackle.

A-N Bond Sale On

BALTIMORE, Nov. 20 (AP)—Coveted tickets to the Army-Navy football game Dec. 2 in Baltimore Municipal Stadium were on sale today to residents of Baltimore and environs only, contingent on their purchase of war bonds.

The Maryland War Finance committee, sole handlers of the public sale, announced last night that applications would be accepted by mail and would have to be accompanied by a validated receipt for a war bond purchase on or after today, opening day of the Sixth War Loan drive. One ticket can be purchased for each bond regardless of denomination.

Just how many seats in the 60,000-plus capacity stadium would be available to civilians had not yet been ascertained.

The sale, a committee spokesman said, would be limited to residents of the city and a surrounding 10-mile radius, and would be on a first-come-first-served basis.

The tickets were priced at $4.80 each. Committee Chairman F. W. Wrightson estimated that 75 per cent of the civilian tickets would go to holders of $25 bonds and that a limited supply of choice seats would be held for purchasers of denominations over $1000.

Tordiglione Is To Carry Fight To Zanelli Tonight

By JACK CONWAY

BILLY TORDIGLIONE, North End welterweight who made such an impressive showing in his recent stirring bout with Jimmy McDaniels of California, will strive to take one more step towards the fistic heights when he clashes with Ralph Zanelli of Providence in a ten-round bout at a Goodman A. C. show at the Garden tonight.

Tordiglione was not expected to give the highly rated McDaniels much opposition. He furnished a startling upset, carrying the battle to McDaniels for ten rounds. He won the early rounds, and, while he lost the decision, he was in there throwing punches until the final bell. It was the best bout staged in Boston this fall.

Billy Tordiglione

Tordiglione is 24 years of age, and has always lived in the North End other than for the year and a half he was in the Army. It was the Army life that instilled into Tordiglione the aggressive spirit that caused him to keep charging at McDaniels for ten sessions.

The Army teaches the American boy to consider himself the best fighting man in the world. This training helped Tordiglione a great deal, and he has now carried the same system of attack into the boxing game.

Zanelli Ring Wise

ZANELLI IS 27 years of age and is ring wise as a result of having traded blows with the best welterweights in the world. Zanelli has a perfect body and a good punch. If he had more recklessness when in the ring he would be difficult for anyone to defeat.

Zanelli will have to fight at his best tonight as Tordiglione will not give him a minute's rest. The North End welterweight realizes that if he can beat Zanelli that he can get some lucrative matches.

Georgie Martin, New England welterweight champion and a former all-America title holder, will be his first objective. Martin is in the Navy and is stationed at Newport. It may be possible for Martin to defend his title if he is able to secure a furlough.

It is likely that Martin will be at the ringside tonight to see Zanelli and Tordiglione trade blows.

'Red' Doty in Action

THE SEMI-FINAL of eight rounds will feature "Red" Doty of Hartford and Sidney Miller of Worcester. Doty is a heavy puncher as he proved when he scored knockdowns against Tippy Larkin and "Bummy" Davis in local rings.

Ken Conley of South Boston, 147 pounds and a son of the late Larry Conley, will meet Billy Napper of the West End in a six-round bout.

Random Shots at Target

THE RACES at Pimlico will receive attention from New England fans now that the New England racing season has come to a close . . . The handle topped $900,000 at Rockingham Park as the 42-day meeting at Lou Smith's track ended . . . The last three days of the meeting were for New Hampshire charities . . . It was Rockingham Park's second charity effort during the fall meeting, as more than $100,000 was raised for war charities at the Columbus Day double-header.

Hap Fenelon, the strong man of Rhode Island racing, tells me that the Pascoag meeting, which closed on Saturday, set new highs for attendance and mutuel handle.

Most of the horses that raced at Rockingham Park will campaign in Florida and in New Orleans during the winter . . . Texas Sandman and some other top thoroughbreds left for California several weeks ago . . . With Florida, New Orleans and California in operation, racing should have a big winter.

Late Sports Roundup

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—Tommy Richardson of Williamsport, Pa., was named president of the Eastern Baseball League yesterday for his fifth straight term. Joe Reardon of Scranton, Pa., president of the Phillies' farm club at Utica, was elected vice-president.

Representatives of all eight clubs met behind closed doors, announced the league had adopted the "Wilson" ball for next season and that all other matters were carried over to the minor league meeting at Buffalo, Dec. 6-8.

MEXICO CITY, Nov. 20 (AP)—Cushions were tossed, bonfires were built, and for 20 minutes all was confusion and catcalls as Mexico City's major bullfight season opened yesterday.

The hubbub started after signs were taken from customers who did not like the showing of Armilita and El Saldada, two of Mexico's leading performers—and it it didn't end until the signs were given back.

The signs read: "Prices have gone up. We are more exacting now."

NEW YORK, Nov. 20 (AP)—James Rafferty of the New York A. C. won the Metropolitan AAU senior cross-country title yesterday, six miles in 32:13.9.

MONTREAL, Nov. 20 (AP)—Lt. Walter Pettit of New York won the International squash tournament Sunday by beating Lou Schaeffer, Buffalo, in three straight games.

ROCKLAND, Me., Nov. 20 (AP)—M. Frank Donohue, 83, Rockland hotelman prominent in harness racing circles, died Sunday.

DALLAS, Nov. 20 (AP)—Oklahoma A. and M., whose only loss has been to the Norman, Okla., Navy Zoomers, is the No. 1 choice to play the Southwest Conference football champions in the Cotton Bowl, Chairman Dan Rogers said today.

Canadiens Next for B's

By BILL GRIMES

Over the week-end, the Maple Leafs and Les Canadiens each picked up four points, the Red Wings three, and the Rangers one. So, the Bruins and Blackhawks were blanked. The Rossmen were set back by the Flying Frenchmen and the Red Wings, and the Hawks dropped a home and home doubleheader to Toronto.

After losing a 6 to 3 decision to Canadiens Saturday in Montreal, the Bruins battled the Red Wings to the final whistle last night in Detroit. During the first period, the Wings beat Harvey Bennett for three goals in one minute and 50 seconds. The middle stanza was a standoff, Bill Jennings scoring for Boston and "Count" Grosso for Detroit.

The final period was all Bruins. But, they missed pulling up on even terms by the margin of Grosso's tally. Little Kenny Smith took a pass from Pat Egan for the second Boston goal and then Armand Gaudreault, assisted by Jack Crawford and Art Jackson, beat Connie Dion.

Although they lost their sixth and seventh games of the season over the week-end, the Chicago Blackhawks weren't any soft touch for the pacemaking Maple Leafs. In Toronto, the Leafs came from behind to win, 5 to 4, and they were obliged to duplicate that feat last night to grab a 4 to 3 verdict.

After the overnight jump from Montreal to New York, Les Canadiens needed two periods to get loosened up last night at Madison Sq. Gardens.

The Flying Frenchmen were two goals down at the end of the opening period and they hadn't caught up with Rangers when the middle chapter ended. But, in the final stanza, the Canucks turned on the heat and popped no less than five goals past Ken McAuley.

During the three weeks the N. H. L. campaign has been on, Toronto, Montreal and Detroit have pulled away from Boston, New York and Chicago. The Leafs are two points up on Canadiens, who, in turn, are a game and a half out in front of the Red Wings, with Boston in fourth.

The Bruins are on their way home from Detroit to meet Les Canadiens tomorrow night at the Boston Garden. Naturally, the Canucks will be the favorites, for along with being the holders of the world's championship title, they have lost only two games (both to Toronto) in nine starts.

Old Rivals Ready For Holiday Tests

By MIKE GILLOOLY

The schoolboys have their annual joust with tradition on Thursday morning and football arrives at the end of the road.

It's been a hard road for most of them this year as only a mere handful are going into their annual Turkey Day games with perfect records.

As luck would have it not one of the traditionally famous games will have an unbeaten team in it. The big game of course is the English-Latin fray at Harvard Stadium and both these teams have taking their share of beatings.

Next in importance is the Malden-Medford game and this is another that isn't up to par. Malden was coasting along quite merrily to the state championship until a week ago when it was upset by Somerville.

And then to complicate matters further Everett came along and held the once roaring Tornado to a tie. So instead of entering the contest with a perfect record Malden enters as an also ran with a loss and tie on the ledger and Medford has only two victories against five defeats.

The Merrimac Valley classic between Lawrence and Lowell which had its inception in 1894 will be between two equal teams at least. Neither Lawrence or Lowell has been very effective against five defeats and a tie.

Somerville should have no trouble evening the count against Rindge as the Cambridge school has nothing to offer and Somerville is loaded. This series started away back in 1893 and the standing right now is 19 victories for Rindge, 18 for Somerville and five ties.

Pro Golfers Gather For Portland, Ore., Play

PORTLAND, Ore., Nov. 20 (AP)—The nation's leading professionals converge on this city of roses this week to launch the golfdom's history—a tour that includes tournaments offering more than $150,000 in war bonds to the low-scoring play-for-pay boys.

Lord Byron Nelson, the Toledo, O. slugger who nabbed $39,600 to top 1944's money-winners, will head a field of 67 pros seeking the first prize of $2666.70 in Portland's $13,333 open over the 6425-yard, par 72 Portland Golf Club course.

In addition to Nelson, virtually every other "name" professional in the country has entered Portland's first major tournament since the National Amateur in 1937, plus 43 amateurs who will vie for $1000 in war bonds and 15 women pros and amateurs with their eyes on $1175 in bonds.

Hoppe and Cochran Resume Play Today

CHICAGO, Nov. 20 (INS) — Champion Willie Hoppe and challenger Welker Cochran begin the final 10 blocks of the world's championship 3-cushion billiard match today at the Bensinger Recreation hall, in Chicago.

The title match will continue daily through Saturday, with the exception of Thursday, Thanksgiving Day.

Olympics to Play For Veterans' Fund

Not to be outdone by their big brothers of the ice, the Olympics of Coach Hago Harrington will be turning over the entire gate receipts of their game with Baltimore to be played at the Boston Garden, Friday night, Dec. 1, to the Record-American-Sunday Advertiser Veterans' Fund.

Last week, the Bruins contributed over $21,000 to this worthy cause and though the Pics probably won't reach this grand figure, they'll be proving their spirit whatever their donation.

Coach Harrington, when approached on the idea of turning over the gate receipts, decided that the Pics couldn't face a stronger rival than the Baltimore club, one of the most colorful outfits in the Eastern League.

Eddie Shore, the Edmonton Express, is operating the club as a farm for his Buffalo sextet. And knowing Shore as the Boston fans do, they can depend on plenty of action from this Oriole club.

"— Bless Us, Every One."

His house filled to overflowing with gifts from all over the nation, Forest "Nubbins" Hoffman, 3, celebrated what may be his last "Christmas" in his Cheyenne, Wyo., home while Santa Claus and his mother help to make his holiday complete by showing him the "silent night." Associated Press Wirephoto

On Way to the Front—These three lovely ladies of the American screen, (l. to r.) June Clyde, Mary Brian and Charlotte Greer are en route from London to join U. S. troops, storming into Germany today, on a morale-building entertainment tour. The girls with Frank McHugh, actor, are part of the USO overseas theater unit assigned to the First U. S. Army. They will play first show on German soil for troops commanded by Lt. Gen. Courtney H. Hodges. Associated Press Wirephoto
